UE Local Votes Ban on Red Officers

Opposes Wallace Candidacy

Acts In Wake Of Accusation

In the wake of nationwide charges that the United Electrical Workers, CIO, is dominated from top to bottom by communists, Local 711 (Westinghouse) yesterday voted to bar communists from holding office in the local. It also voted to oppose Henry Wallace, Progressive party candidate for the presidency.

Approximately 100 members of the 6,000-member local met at 1:30 p. m. in John Simpson auditorium and voted an amendment to the union's constitution prohibiting Communist party members and members of any other subversive groups from holding any union office.

Officers said the attendance was about double the usual number at union meetings.

The action disregarded the expressed wishes of the International union. International officers of the union have refused to sign the non-communist affidavits required by the Taft-Hartley act to qualify the union for services of the National Labor Relations board.

HANDBILLS PASSED

Prior to the meeting, two men, one representing the national union and the other the district distributed handbills signed by the national union urging members to oppose the amendment banning communists from holding office in the UE.:

Richard Nieber, 144 Blymyer avenue, represented the International and Jake Staas, Lima represented the district.

The handbills pointed out that the International constitution states, in the preamble, that "all members, regardless of craft, age, sex, nationality, race, creed or political beliefs are entitled to equal rights in the union."

The statement declared that Westinghouse workers have a "contract second to none," and quoted a statement from a union organizer representing the International that "the memberships of our locals cannot set up restrictions against any worker in our industry because of his beliefs . . ."

The vote taken after more than an hour of vigorous debate was 83 to 13. Those favoring the measure charged that "Communists are not Americans," and that "UE should pass the measure so that we can be above suspicion."

Another said: "If we are to sur-

Mother Gets Help By Air

ZANESVILLE —(AP)— Mrs. Alice Zawadski, 26, is feeling better today, thanks to a plane load of enlisted men from the naval air station at Columbus, 40 miles west of here.

Mrs. Zawadski is the wife of a Navy chief petty officer, Edward Zawadski. She is seriously ill in good Samaritan hospital from complications in the birth of a son six months ago.

Yesterday she needed blood quickly. Zawadski called his friends at the station, and a twin-engine transport took off from Columbus. Aboard were seven enlisted men who donated a pint of blood each and were flown back to base. Howard Budd of Ashland, O., was one of the seven men.

Strikers Surrender Coal Pits

PARIS — (INS) — French troops and police seized coal mines throughout France today with little opposition from communist-led strikers.

A ministry of interior spokesman said that the "vast operation" of "occupation of the mines" is proceeding "normally."

The seizures came as reports told of a split in the solid front of the communist-dominated General Confederation of Labor (CGT) which is sponsoring the three-week-old strike.

The important regional CGT board of the Pas de Calais, heart of the coal mining area in the north, was said to be seeking negotiations to end the strike.

Mines and other installations were occupied by troops in the Douari and Valenciennes area. At the Sessavalle pits near Douari the miners first refused to leave seized pits, but they reconsidered and withdrew when police reinforcements surrounded them.

MANY ARRESTED

There were many arrests throughout the strike area, in line with the government's determination to crush what it terms a Soviet-inspired attempt to sabotage the Marshall plan.

A CGT-proclaimed 24-hour general strike in the Loire basin deprived the town of St. Etienne of trolley, bus, garbage collection, mail distribution, and train services.

The strike, called to protest the deaths of two miners at Firminy last Friday, was also joined by a one-hour general walkout of workers in the southern France departments of Bouches-du-Rhone and Herault.

The absence of violence in the northern mines seizures was attributed to the strength of troops in the area. About 24,000 were sent into the coalfields in an overwhelming show of strength.

600 Die In Rebellion

SUNCHON, South Korea —(AP)— Golden rice fields, roads, streets and the police compound are strewn tonight with the bodies of an estimated 600 persons killed in last week's revolt here.

Loyal forces have recaptured the city and begun executing rebel communists and communist sympathizers. Twenty-two were shot a few hours ago and their bodies are lying at the edge of a plaza.

After killing most of the police here and parading down the streets, the rebels turned to executing anti-leftists and what few policemen were left on the streets.

When they were through executing bound anti-leftists and police, the rebels armed high school-aged youths with Japanese rifles. Ten of these were slaughtered Saturday when they tried to storm the post office, then held by loyalists.

Hold 3 Area Men For Rape

MILLERSBURG — Three area men today pleaded guilty in justice court here to the Oct. 5 rape of a Holmes county woman and were bound over to the grand jury.

The men, Gene Weber, 21, of Cambridge, John Duncan of Fredericksburg and Malon Hostetler of Fredericksburg, told Justice William J. Close that they had forced the woman's husband out of the house and took turns attacking her.

The men were held under $5,000 bond each.

Another companion, a youth, was held for juvenile court tomorrow.

Judge Promises Minister Action

STRIFE IN FRANCE—French troops were seizing struck mines today in the wake of scenes such as those pictured above. At left, rioting French coal miners swarm over the bars of the prefecture in Bethune in one of a series of disorders that broke out when 4,000 miners marched on the prefecture to protest arrest of strikers who had been involved in violence two days earlier. Forty police guards were injured in this battle. Less than 24 hours later, two miners were killed and scores of police and strikers injured as strike violence spread to Firminy in central France. At right, striking miners carry a wounded co-worker from scene of riot at Comberfort mine, near St. Etienne, France, in which at least two miners were killed and scores injured. Troops guarding mine were forced to fire at strikers during demonstration.

Thomas Asks To Testify

Would Appear Before Jury

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Justice Department officials promised to place before a federal grand jury today a request by Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, R., N. J., for permission to testify after the election at its investigation into "kickback" charges against him.

U. S. Attorney George Morris Fay said it was up to the jurors to decide whether they wouldd hear the chairman of the House unAmerican Activities committee. But it was considered unlikely they would refuse. A decision was expected before nightfall.

The grand jury investigation, dealing with charges that Thomas received salary "kickbacks" from employes in his congressional office, began last Friday. Thomas denounced it as an attempt by Attorney General Tom C. Clark to hurt him politically by "a vicious smear technique."

Thomas, who has repeatedly accused Clark of failure to prosecute alleged Communist espionage agents, is up for re-election on Nov. 2.

The justice department denied Thomas' charge that "cheap Pendergast politics" inspired the grand jury inquiry. It issued a statement pointing out that Clark had prosecuted two prominent Democrats — former Reps. Andrew J. May of Kentucky and James M. Curley of Massachusetts.

Parents, 5 Children Are Killed

Family Wiped Out as Fire Destroys Home

MASSILLON—(AP)—A kerosene stove was blamed today for a fire which levelled a two-room dwelling near here and killed all seven members of a family.

Victims of the blaze in the Navarre section early yesterday were Harry DeVoll, 30; his wife, Vivian, 28, and their five children, Jimmy, 6; Evelyn, 5; Howard Leroy, 3; Billy, 2, and Allen Ray, two months.

Fire Chief Clifford Johnson of Navarre and sheriff's deputies said the stove was believed to have caused the fire. Several weeks previously it blazed up and had to be extinguished with a bucket of water, they reported.

A neighbor, William Rockstrom, said he noticed a flash at the home shortly before the fire began about 1:30 a. m. He said he drove to the tiny frame dwelling in his car, however, but saw no flames and so returned home.

DeVoll's father, Delbert DeVoll, 63, who lived nearby, and a neighbor, George Muskoff, dragged Mrs. DeVoll and the five children from the blazing home, but they were pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital here.

The body of her husband was not recovered until hours later. He was at first believed to have been at work at the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad roundhouse at Brewster, where he was employed as a fireman.

Ward Smith, 28, first spotted the blaze as he drove past the house on his way home.

Mass funeral services for the family will be held tomorrow at a funeral home here. Burial will be in Union Lawn cemetery in Navarre.

The victims' home was built by DeVoll and his father on a one acre tract of land in a rural section.

1,161 Bicycle Permits Sold

Heavy rain restricted the sale of bicycle licenses to Carpenter school area pupils to 76 Saturday, bringing the overall total to 1,161.

Paul Martin, police identification officer, said that this coming Saturday, pupils from the same area will have a second chance to register along with students from the Bowman, Newman, West Fifth, Hedges, Prospect and Woodland school areas who were not able to buy licenses at the assigned times.

He added that junior and senior high school students who live in the above areas should register also.

The bicycle license sale is held from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Saturday at the police department garage at the city building.

Fiend Kills Girl, Escort

EAU CLAIRE, Wis — (UP) — Sheriff's deputies today sought a sex fiend who raped and killed a high school girl and the teen-aged escort who tried to defend her.

The partially unclad body of 17-year-old Gertrude Baumann, a high school senior, was found yesterday in underbrush on a golf course near her home.

Shortly afterwards searchers found the body of Raymond Smith, 18, a bank clerk, whom Miss Baumann dated Saturday afternoon on a trip to the golf course to take snapshots.

Both had been shot several times, apparently from a .22-caliber rifle, according to Coroner E. Wallace Stokes.

Sheriff Lloyd Thompson said it was impossible for the deaths to be a case of murder and suicide.

Stokes said that Smith apparently struggled with the murderer, who shot him four times.

Circus Employe Beaten to Death

SPRINGFIELD, Mo —(AP)—An inquest was planned today in the mysterious death of William Pettit, a 19-year-old circus roustabout whose battered body was found in a show wagon. For a time the entire personnel of the circus—Dailey Brothers—was under arrest for screening purposes.

Fund Total Hits $59,000

Half of Cards Still Unreported

The Community Chest campaign was $9,000 nearer its goal of $122,635 at noon today when workers reported that a total of $59,605 had been pledged up until that time.

Most of the more than $9,000 reported today came from the city's industries.

The Red Feathers unit continued to lead the two major divisions of the drive with $34,073 pledged to date. The Blue Stars unit reported $25,532.

The professional division was still holding highest percentage place with $4,670 reported on a quota of $5,400.

Several divisions got a slow start and are lagging in contributions reported. Public employes has reported only $848 of a $2,700 quota. Construction has reported $1,789 of a $4,000 quota. Industrial A has only $8,300 of its $34,100 quota. Small industries has reported about 25 per cent of its goal and public service about one-third of its quota.

Industrial B is still out in front with the highest amount pledged in any division. It has raised $21,647 of its $35,100 quota.

With only three days left in the campaign which ends Thursday night, about 50 per cent of the prospect cards have not been reported yet, according to Willis Carto, general chairman of the drive.

Palestine War Losing Force

TEL AVIV —(INS)— Arab forces fell back along the northern Palestine front today in the face of stiffened Israeli resistance.

A United Nations truce commission spokesman in Haifa indicated that fighting in the northern sector had quieted down, but added that the "situation along the entire front is still serious."

The Negev front, in southern Palestine, was also under the close scrutiny of truce officials and no new outbreaks were reported.

Candidates Move Into Cleveland

Herbert, Lausche Seek Big Vote

Compiled from Wire Services.

Ohio Republicans spread their campaign fire today as the Democrats completed plans for another appearance of President Truman tomorrow.

With the Nov. 2 election just eight days away, the Republicans sent its leading representatives into Cincinnati, Dayton and Cleveland. The Democrats concentrated on the Cleveland area.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, heading the GOP drive, was in Dayton today, while Sen. John W. Bricker was scheduled to speak in Cleveland tonight.

Former Governor Frank J. Lausche, who is seeking to return to the executive mansion on the Democratic ticket, returned to Cleveland today.

Cleveland casts about one-sixth of the total Ohio vote, and both Herbert, seeking re-election on the Republican ticket, and Lausche, the Democratic nominee for the third consecutive time, will go all out for all they can get of that huge hunk of votes.

Lausche is favored to come out of the usually-Democratic city with a whooping big majority. The question is, can that majority offset Herbert pluralities downstate? A flip of a coin would give as good an answer as anything or anybody could today.

President Truman, on his final campaign swing, will make speeches in Toledo, Sandusky and Elyria tomorrow with his main address scheduled for Cleveland in the evening.

Lausche will board the Presidential special at Toledo and remain with Mr. Truman during the trip across Ohio, to the intense anguish of some of his advisors.

Most observers give Republican presidential nominee Dewey a plurality of around 200,000 votes in Ohio, and there are those in Lausche's retinue who fear the Lausche-Truman tie-up will cost the former governor votes.

Dewey will be in Cleveland the following day with his main address scheduled for Wednesday evening. Governor Herbert will play a prominent part in the reception for the New York governor, and will introduce him at the rally that evening.

Senior High Band to Set Parade Pace

Fast-stepping musicians of the colorful Senior high school band will set the pace for the annual "Help Hunt Halloween" parade here next Monday night.

So far eight musical aggregations have agreed to march in the parade. The celebration this year is the 40th since Fred Hunt began the festival for his "newsies" four decades ago.

Musical groups will include, besides the Senior band, the John Simpson, Johnny Appleseed, Madison, Loudonville and Galion school band, the Leesville band and the Shelby Drum Corps.

It will be the biggest collection of musical organizations to parade here for the Halloween event in years.

Mrs. Ada Hunt Doerr, sponsor of the event, has obtained Bill Leicy's orchestra to play for the Coliseum dance, at which prizes will be given for the most outstanding costumes.

Backed by members of the Senior class at Mansfield Senior high school, the celebration this year has been expanded to include an array of floats, to be led by seniors in pioneer costumes and riding a Conestoga wagon indicative of their class name "The 49ers."

Proposal Pushed By Vishinsky

Veto Looms If Allies Say 'No'

BULLETIN

PARIS — (AP) — An authoritative source said today the Big Three western powers had rejected a Russian counter-proposal to end the Berlin deadlock.

★

PARIS — (INS) — Soviet Russia offered the western powers a "token" lifting of the Berlin blockade today in return for a concession on currency negotiations.

The offer, made by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky, was accompanied by a blunt hint that its acceptance is the only alternative to a Soviet veto of the small nations' compromise proposal drafted by U.N. Security Chairman Juan A. Bramuglia.

Vishinsky staged an intensive campaign to put across his proposal. Bramuglia agreed to present it to the western powers with some changes of his own, thus transforming it into a new formula.

It was understood that under the proposal the great six-lane autobahn superhighway connecting Berlin with western Germany would be reopened partially at once.

Trains would not resume operations, however, until a currency agreement is reached. The airlift therefore would continue to be necessary although its burden presumably would be lightened by resumption of some road traffic.

CALLED 'COMPLICATED'

A western spokesman said that at first glance Vishinsky's offer appeared "extremely complicated." It seemed to pivot on minute coordination of progressive blockade-lifting and monetary talks.

French circles displayed a significant sympathy with Bramuglia's continued efforts to achieve a compromise.

American and British spokesmen again indicated that the Vishinsky counterplan still would mean negotiations under duress which the western powers refuse.

Behind-the-scenes conferences proceeded and in mid-afternoon it became problematical whether the security council, whose scheduled 9 a. m. session already had been postponed for two hours, would meet at all today.

Crash Fatal To 3 Airmen

CHANUTE FIELD, Ill.— (UP) —Air force officers said today that three crewmen were killed and 19 servicemen injured when a sudden ground fog caused the pilot of a C-47 transport plane to undershoot the field and crash into a barracks.

Doctors said the majority of the passengers were in "pretty good shape." Names of the dead pilot, co-pilot and crew chief, as well as those of the injured, were withheld pending an announcement from Wright-Patterson field, Dayton, O., the plane's home base.

The plane tore off a corner of one barracks and pushed the bottom floor of a two-story barracks out from beneath the second story. The impact smashed all but the fuselage of the aircraft in which the passengers were riding.

Brig. Gen. F. R. Uphegrove, commander of the base here, said that visibility at the time of the landing was poor.

A large part of the field was darkened immediately after the crash as the plane cut through power lines. The lack of electricity hampered rescue work and hospital operations until an emergency power unit was put in operation.

Warm, Clear Days Coming

Clearer skies and milder temperatures were promised for Mansfield and the rest of Ohio by the weatherman today. The forecast for tonight is fair and cool with tomorrow fair and somewhat warmer.

The low point for the past 24 hours was recorded at 37 degrees in Mansfield. Yesterday's high was 52. Only one Ohio point, Findlay, recorded a freezing temperature yesterday.

The temperature here had risen to 48 at 10:30 this morning. At the same time Cleveland reported 52, Columbus, 47, and Cincinnati, 42.

TOKYO — (INS) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur today offered the Russians the use of American icebreakers to speed the return to Japan of an estimated 470,000 Jap prisoners still held by the Soviet.

Home Is Willed to Town of Bad Ischl as a Shrine

Death Claims Franz Lehar, 'Merry Widow' Composer

VIENNA —(AP)— Composer Franz Lehar, 78, whose lilting light opera music is known and sung throughout the world, died yesterday at his home in Bad Ischl.

Lehar, whose charming melodies and graceful waltz themes were universally loved, was the composer of the "Merry Widow" and several other operettas that are among the present day's last links with the light-hearted music for which Vienna was famous.

His physician said the composer who had been critically ill for six weeks, died of cancer. His illness was complicated by gastric ulcers, double pneumonia and a heart ailment.

Although Lehar composed several sonatas and symphonic poems, the world knew him best for his great hits, topped by the "Merry Widow" and including "Springtime," "Gypsy Love," "The Count of Luxembourg," "The Land of Smiles," "The Man With Three Lives" and "The World is Beautiful."

The "Merry Widow," first produced in Vienna on Dec. 30, 1905, has been produced in the United States more than 5,000 times, and has been performed more than 1,000 times in the capitals of Europe. In Buenos Aires it once ran simultaneously in five theaters in five different languages.

At Lehar's bedside when he died were his brother, Baron Anton von Lehar, and his sister, Emma Marie Pahphazy, widow of a Hungarian count.

His funeral will be held Saturday.

Lehar's estate is estimated at more than $1,000,000. He recently drew up a will leaving his home to the town of Bad Ischl as a shrine with 10 per cent of the income from his estate to maintain it.

Lehar was born April 4, 1870, in Komorn, Hungary, then a part of the Austro-Hungarian empire.

Models, Menu, and Diamonds Vie For Attention In Swanky Jeweler's Show

NEW YORK—(AP)— Ever go to a multi-million dollar diamond show?

Well, throw on some lipstick and wrap up in your 1927 furs, and let's get going. But leave off your sparklers. They'll look awful dim at this bonfire.

Here we are at the Ritz-Carlton. The Crystal Garden? Downstairs to your right.

Who's that rough character at the door giving us the evil eye? That's one of the 16 guards here to see that only the right people get in, and nobody grabs any rock candy and runs off with it to a pawnshop.

Sit here: Who're the other people? Why, they're the people throwing the party. It's the first nation-wide diamond show for the fashion press. Yeh, 11 jewelers from coast to coast raked together $3,500,000 worth of ice cubes for this little get-together.

Have a highball. Have two. Don't worry — they're on the house. And look at the menu — fruit salad in half a sliced fresh pineapple, chicken breast on ham, potatoes, green beans, coffee, ice cream and French cookies.

What's that? Quit giggling. You say it would look funny if all the jewelers took out their little black-rimmed magnifying glasses at once and wore them like monocles? Don't think they don't have them in their pockets. They do. But they don't call them magnifying glasses. They call them loupes.

There go the spotlights. The show's one — the band's playing. Here come the models now, one at a time, parading down the staircase. Get the idea? The band plays a home town tune for each jeweler as his model comes down the stairs.

"Chicago, Chicago. Ta . . . ta, ta, ta. Ta . . . ta, ta, ta. Chicago, Chicago, tum . . . ta, de, ta, tum. Tum . . . ta, de, ta tum." Yeah, I guess that one's from Chicago all right.

After they parade around, you know, the girls come and sit for a while at each table. Here's one coming our way now. What's your name, Miss, and how much rock candy you wearing?

"I'm Dru Avedon. This is a half million dollar necklace, and the bracelet is about $100,000. How does it make you feel to wear them? Oh, it makes you feel beautiful — like a great lady. But when I get through here I still have to go home and give my baby a bath. Sure I have a baby — a girl, 2½."

There are the lights again. The show's over, except for some posing for photographs. How much do the models get? Oh, about a hundred bucks altogether — $15 to $20 an hour. Here's a guard. Let's ask him if any diamonds are ever stolen.

"Nope, Bud, we never lost a carat at any diamond show."

What's that? How can he explain that when 1,000 cops at an international convention of police chiefs here last week had 24 badges stolen from their crime convention exhibit. All right, I'll ask him.

"I don't know about that, Bud, but they wouldn't have lost any badges if they'd been diamond-studded."

Well, come on. Yes, you've got enough lipstick on. Let's go. What? What? How about asking for a little teentsie-weentsie diamond for a souvenir? Are you crazy! Whatta you think this is—a radio give-away show?

Declares Evidence of Red, Nazi Connections Uncovered, Reburied

OFFICIAL PROBES often start with a bang and end with a hush. Various charges and promises explode in a brilliant burst of oral fireworks. The headline-rocketing whizzes across the public eye and then vanishes into the darkness of oblivion.

Public officials might be jolted into action by spotlighting investigations that were promised but never started — and probes that were started without being finished . . . That is why this reporter occasionally collects the following memory-refreshers.

Several months ago Cong. McDowell of the Un-American Activities Committee announced he would soon begin public hearings dealing with Fascism in America. The legislator stated the evidence was obtained by investigators working in "the deep South, in the far West, in Texas, Chicago, Detroit and Philadelphia" . . . McDowell also added this evidence "involved some pretty important people" . . . Ten days later McDowell about-faced. He pigeonholed the probe and gobbled his own promises by alibiing: "We have found nothing to indicate there are any Fascists in the U. S. A. worth investigating."

Why McDowell suddenly changed his mind remains a mystery.

Take it from me there is plenty of evidence of native Fascist activities. And it's a cinch for legislative probers to find it. They can just reach out and dust off the facts . . . The Dies Committee uncovered this evidence and then promptly buried it.

Prodded by the Senate War Investigating Committee, the Justice Dep't agreed to probe the activities of American oil companies in Saudi Arabia . . . That was in March, 1947 . . . The JD began investigating and then forgot all about it. But the Senate committee didn't—it again hot-footed Att'y Gen. Clark . . . The Justice Dep't assured legislators that it would complete its investigation.

Today the results of that probe are wrapped in secrecy. However, this much is known: The Justice Dep't official who was handling the probe of the oil companies recently resigned—and accepted a job with a law firm which serves as counsel for one of the oil companies he was investigating!

Oooooohhhhhhhhh!

In October, 1945, the U. S. Army captured the Nazi Party's master file containing the membership cards of Nazis throughout the globe—including the U. S. A. . . . After much delay some names of these American-nazis were published It was reported that when the complete list was made public it would reveal the names of several prominent Americans.

We are still awaiting the wow finish.

One of the strangest international mystery stories concerns Nazi cartelist Hugo Stinnes, Jr., and an official of the U. S. Alien Property Custodian . . . During the war this official went to Sweden to discuss with Stinnes the future of the Stinnes enterprises. A short time after this secret conference the American was murdered . . . Why was he sent to Sweden? What happened during his conference with Stinnes? Who killed him? Why was he murdered?

These queries could be answered by looking into the files of the Alien Property Custodian. Only a Congressional committee with powers of subpoena could study those files. Why hasn't this been done? Isn't murder a crime????

Vetsville Gets City's Fire Truck

Vetsville has a new fire truck. The city fire department has stationed the old South Boulevards converted ambulance at Vetsville, located on U. S. Route 30, six miles east of Mansfield.

A volunteer fire department has been organized to protect Vetsville's 300 residents. The men will operate the new truck which contains an auxiliary pump capable of pumping 500 gallons per minute.

The white truck is no longer needed at South Boulevards, inasmuch as that village is now part of Mansfield and the engine at the new No. 5 fire station will answer alarms in that area.

With the engine stationed at Vetsville, city trucks will no longer make the long run to the village unless a bad fire breaks out. Small conflagrations can be handled by the auxiliary engine using water from the Vetsville tower.

If the blaze gets out of hand, a city pumper will be needed to pump water from nearby Mifflin lake into the tower to supply water to the engines fighting the blaze.

Draft Plans For Alliance

7-Power Military Talks Scheduled

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Invitations to a portentous conference to draft a military alliance between North America and Western Europe probably will go out soon after next week's presidential election.

Nations expected to take part in the initial phases are the United States, Canada and Europe's western union powers—Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Several other countries in the non-Communist lineup—notably Italy, Iceland, Norway—may join in the talks at some point.

Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett began conferences early this year with the ambassadors of Canada and the western European countries on the question: What form should United States military support for Europe take?

This government's only guide for action—aside from Europe's need—was the senate resolution adopted last spring advocating the association of the United States with nations having common security interests.

The proposed North Atlantic alliance has been sketched out in rough outline in the Washington talks. It would commit the United States to military involvement in the affairs of Europe more deeply than it ever before has been pledged in peacetime—although not more deeply than it actually is involved now with occupation armies stationed in Germany and Austria.

The treaty is expected to embrace two major provisions dealing with the problem of aggression—by which the western governments mean an attack by Russia.

The first is that an attack upon one nation should be considered an attack upon all. The second is that each government—in accord with its own constitutional processes—should decide the appropriate action to take.

City Draft Board Shifts Headquarters

The local selective service office is moving today to a new location on the second floor of the Memorial building, 34 Park avenue west. Since registration began in August, the office has been in the American Legion home.

Mrs. Leah Maxwell, selective service clerk, said today she needs the help of two volunteer typists each day to help process the 5,504 registrants.

More registrations come in every day, she said, from men who have reached their 18th birthday and newly-discharged veterans. Men who have just turned 18 have five days in which to register, she said.

Mrs. Maxwell urged men who receive their questionnaires to fill them out completely, filling in all spaces.

A major cause of trouble has been improperly filled out questionnaires, she said. Help can be obtained from the Veterans' Service Center on Third street near Mulberry.

Men who receive notices of preinduction physical examinations should not quit their jobs, as several months sometimes elapse before the men are inducted even if they are found physically fit, Mrs. Maxwell disclosed. Even after final induction notices are given, 21 days are allowed before induction.

HEAR NEW ORGAN—

The old organ at St. Paul Lutheran church was ripped from its moorings last week to make way for a new Baldwin electric organ. Although not yet installed the new organ was used at yesterday's services. In addition to installation of the new organ, the entire choir loft will be remodeled before the project is completed. The new organ cost $3,000 and it is expected that more than $4,000 will be paid out before the installation and remodeling are done. The old organ, according to Rev. John G. Gensel, pastor, is being stored in the attic of the parsonage. "We couldn't get enough cash out of selling it to warrant the sale," Rev. Gensel said today, "so we're storing it for the time being at least."

Six Hurt As Autos Collide

Rites Set For Paul Browning

A 19-year-old Mansfield youth was killed, and four other Mansfielders and a Lexington youth were injured seriously early Sunday when two cars met head-on in dense fog near the Galion city limits.

Paul Eugene Browning, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Browning, 483 North Mulberry street, died en route to Galion City hospital after suffering a severe skull fracture and internal injuries.

The injured, all reported in "fairly good" condition today at Galion City hospital, were:

Woodrow Wilson, 22, Lida street, severe neck injuries.

Mrs. Mae Thomas, 39, 411 Bowman street, severe internal injuries.

Harold Young, 22, of Lexington, shock, body bruises and lacerations of the hands and face.

Released today after treatment at the hospital was Wilford Neff, 20, of 483 North Mulberry street, driver of the car in which Browning, Mrs. Thomas and McCoy were riding. Neff suffered lacerations of the left leg and deep facial cuts.

State highway patrolmen said the Neff car and another driven by Young of Lexington, smashed head-on in the middle of U. S. Route 30, one mile east of the Galion city limits. Officers said dense fog surrounded the area at the time. The accident occurred at 2:25 a. m. Sunday. Both cars were demolished.

The injured, Mrs. Mary Richards, 52; Miss Ann Richards, 25, and Miss Marie Richards, 32, were all reported in "good" condition today. Mrs. Richards suffered a hip injury and the daughters, leg and head injuries.

State highway patrolmen of the Marion post said the Richards car, driven by the mother, collided head-on with a car driven by Boyd Grogg, 17, of Mt. Gilead, R. D. 2. Officers said the accident is still under investigation.

Officers said the three women were thrown out of the car by the impact which occurred as heavy traffic was moving on the road. The accident occurred about 2:30 p. m. Sunday. Grogg was not injured.

At least 10 other persons met death on Ohio highways outside the Mansfield area in traffic accidents over the week end.

Graham Pitches Browns to 35-to-7 Win

Sports Chatter

By Fritz Howell

Ohio AP Sports Editor.

COLUMBUS—The current controversy storming around Harry Stuhldreher's coaching regime at Wisconsin brings to mind a story the folks like to tell around Massillon, Harry's old home town.

Back in the days when Paul Brown was Massillon mentor and whipping everything in sight, he had a whale of a back named Mike Byelene.

Mike is now the more than slightly bald assistant coach to Augie Morningstar, the former Purdue great, at Mansfield high.

Stuhldreher, smallest player ever to perform for Massillon high, had gone on to gain fame as one of Notre Dame's Four Horsemen. Then he took over as Wisconsin's coach, where he was boss when Byelene shone for the Massillon Tigers.

★

Harry came home the summer Byelene was graduated, and Brown and the other Massillonites tried to "sell" Stuhldreher on the idea of taking Mike under his wing at Wisconsin.

"Someone produced a football, (practically everyone has one in Massillon) and Mike was put through his running, passing and punting paces while Harry looked on.

Stuhldreher's reacting was that Mike was a fine football player, but at 155 pounds was "too light for Big Ten football."

So, instead of going to Wisconsin, Byelene wound up at Purdue. And then came the payoff.

In his first game between Wisconsin and Purdue, Byelene ran back a kickoff for about 90 yards to produce the touchdown which tied the Badgers. The following year he ripped off a 78-yard run which whipped Wisconsin.

That's all the Massillon fans needed. A telegram was quickly authored that night and sent on its way to Stuhldreher. The telegram asked:

"Is he still too small, Harry?"

It was signed by some 1800 Massillon residents.

★

Incidentally, Paul Brown was the second smallest player ever to perform for Massillon as a regular. And when Brown was at Ohio State and Stuhldreher at Wisconsin, little Massillon had the distinction of having two of its littlest players (in size) as head coaches in two of the country's biggest football jobs.

Otto Tosses 4 For TD's, Treks For 1

CLEVELAND — (INS) — When votes are cast for the most valuable player in the All-America conference this year, the name of Otto Graham probably will head the list.

Graham, his accurate right arm, and End Dante Lavelli were the big guns in the Cleveland Browns' attack yesterday at Cleveland stadium where they trounced the New York Yankees, 35-7, before 46,912 fans.

Lavelli, returning to the starting lineup for the first time since a broken leg sidelined him in a pre-season game, snared two Graham touchdown passes, one in the end zone while being covered by two Yankee defensemen.

Graham, who has been nursing a sprained right hand all season, completed 21 of 30 passes for 310 yards. Four passes were good for touchdowns and the other was scored by Graham himself on a 22-yard end run.

The victory was the 11th in a row for the Clevelanders and 17th consecutive game without a defeat over a two-year period.

Right Halfback Bob Cowan and Left End Mac Speedie were on the receiving ends of the other Graham TD aerials. Cowan's play covered 63 yards and Speedie's nine. Both scores were made in the second period within five minutes of each other.

Buddy Young, speedy Yankee fullback, circled into the clear behind the entire Cleveland team and took a pass from Pete Layden in the end zone to avert a whitewash, in the final 35 seconds.

Spec Sanders and Young, the Yanks' two ace ground gainers, were able to rack up only 107 yards rushing. Of 29 passes attempted by Sanders and Layden, only 13 were good for 128 yards.

Meanwhile, the Browns, who concentrated their attack in the air, gained 149 yards rushing and 337 yards passing.

Strangely enough, Quarterbacks Graham and Lewis, who played most of the fourth quarter, made nearly half of the Browns rushing total on plays that were intended to be passes.

The All-America conference champs opened the scoring in the final minute of the first period when accurate Otto tossed a 29-yard pass to Lavelli. Lou Groza kicked the first of five extra points to give the Clevelanders a 7-0 lead.

Three plays after they took possession of the ball on their own 35-yard line, in the second period, a Graham-to-Cowan pass play clicked for 63 yards and six more points. Less than five minutes later Mac Speedie snared another aerial for nine yards and gave the Brownies a 21-0 lead.

In the third period Lavelli sauntered into the end zone between two Yankee players, leaped into the air and came down with the ball.

Graham, back to pass in the first few minutes of the final canto, spotted a clear route to the goal line and dashed around left end for the score.

Philadelphia Eagles Upset Burly Chicago Bears, 12-7

(By United Press)

Greasy Neale's flashy Philadelphia Eagles hogged the National Football league limelight today after tightening their grip on the eastern division lead and beating the Chicago Bears for the first time in the history of the circuit.

Philadelphia combined a fourth period field goal and a last-play safety to beat the Bears, 12 to 7, yesterday. The defeat bounced the Bears into a first-place tie with the Chicago Cardinals in the western division.

Cliff Patton's 38-yard field goal broke a 7-7 tie in the last period and on the final play of the game, the Eagles added two more points when Walt Barnes tackled Sid Luckman behind the Bear's goal. Steve Van Buren scored Philadelphia's touchdown in the first quarter.

Scoring 35 points in the third period, the Cardinals walloped the Boston Yanks, 49 to 27, before 23,433 fans at Comiskey park.

Boston jumped to a 6-0 lead in the first period but the Cardinals roared back with two touchdowns in the second period and applied the clincher with a parade of touchdowns. Center Bill Blackburn and end Mal Kutner each tallied twice for Chicago while Joe Golding racked up three touchdowns for Boston.

BLISTERING ATTACK

The Washington Redskins, who generally strike through the air, resorted to a blistering ground attack to beat the Green Bay Packers, 23 to 7. Sammy Baugh threw only nine passes as Washington battered its way to touchdowns in the first, second and fourth periods. Three tenacious goal line stands by the Redskins took the heart out of the Packers.

Capitalizing on the breaks, the New York Giants scored a fourth period touchdown to beat the Pittsburgh Steelers, 34 to 27, in a driving rain at the Polo Grounds. Chuck Conerly, who sparked New York's aerial attack, scored the deciding tally.

Los Angeles scored in the final moment of play to beat Detroit, 34 to 27. Quarterback Jim Hardy completed six passes to end Tom Fears in a 69-yard drive that brought victory to the Rams.

Grabiner, Indian Vice-President, Is Dead at 57

CHICAGO —(AP)— Harry Grabiner, who rose from peanut vendor to vice-president of the Chicago White Sox, died in a coma yesterday 48 hours after undergoing an operation for brain tumor.

Grabiner was with the Comiskey club 41 years before resigning in 1945. In 1946 he became associated with Bill Veeck as vice-president of the Cleveland Indians.

Although only 57, Grabiner was third only to Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics and Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators in years of American league service.

He served as usher, vendor, ticket seller and grandstand sweeper before being appointed assistant secretary of the Comiskey organization at the age of 15. He became secretary in 1915.

By the time the New York Giants and the White Sox met in the 1917 World Series, Grabiner was general manager and vice-president, positions he held for 28 years.

Grabiner entered St. Luke's hospital in Chicago last Monday for a routine examination which revealed the brain tumor.

Kiser Is Next Foe; Tyger Club Meets

With their winning streak over Ohio scholastic football aggregations at an end, the Senior high Tygers face a pair of not-too-tough opponents before heading into the climax of the 1948 season.

The Tygers meet Kiser, leader in the Dayton city race, this Friday and then go against Marion Harding Nov. 5. Hamilton Public and Martins Ferry, both unbeaten, are the concluding foes Nov. 12 and Nov. 19. All except Martins Ferry will be played at Arlin field.

Just what to expect Friday night will be one of the topics at tonight's Tyger booster club football session at the high school at 7:30 p. m. Augie Morningstar, chief man in the Tyger lair, will give a scouting report of the Kiser Panthers and go over the Bengals' 33-to-7 defeat at the hands of Massillon last week.

RUINS RANKING

The Massillon Washington high crew wrecked Senior high's dreams of high Ohio ranking. Morningstar's team had won four straight from Buckeye clubs to place high in the Associated Press and International News Service polls last week.

Morningstar, however, will be only one of the featured speakers tonight. Bob Kennedy and Jimmy Lymper, coaches at John Simpson and Johnny Appleseed, will give their impressions of the impending Mansfield junior high championship battle Wednesday night in Arlin field.

The featured speaker will be Jimmy Dudley, who handles the mike at the Detroit Lions' football games and the Cleveland Indians baseball contests. Dudley will conclude the 90-minute program which is scheduled to begin at 7:30.

TEAMS WITH JACK

Dudley teams with Jack Graney to broadcast the Cleveland games. He will come to Mansfield after his regular Monday night sports broadcast over WJW in Cleveland. Today's WJW air show will be broadcast at 7 p. m. from WATG, Ashland.

Tickets for the Dayton Kiser fracas went on sale today at the high school and at Moorhead's.

Kiser has looked adequate in the Dayton city league but has not shown much against out-of-town teams. The Panthers are undefeated in the city loop, winning 20 to 0 over Dayton Wilbur Wright in the last outing.

Steubenville, Troy and Lima South have all beaten Kiser. Mansfield scouts "looked over" the Panthers in the South and Wilbur Wright encounters. South defeated Kiser, 19 to 7.

Last week, Findlay defeated Marion Harding, 41 to 7; Hamilton smashed Springfield, 61 to 12, and Martins Ferry won over Bellaire, 33 to 0. Mansfield previously edged Springfield, 26 to 20.

Tech Students Protest Poor Grid Showing

PITTSBURGH —(UP)— The Carnegie Tech campus was livid with painted protests today as the student body revolted against the directorship of its winless football team.

The long-smouldering student uprising erupted after the Tartan's lost their 18th consecutive game last Saturday, bowing to Case, 26-20. Once a football power, Carnegie Tech hasn't won a game since 1942.

Irate students, armed with black and red paint, splashed the campus walks with foot-high protest signs and members of a student committee circulated a petition demanding the dismissal of Bill Donohoe as head coach. The petition asked that a new coach be hired and Donohoe be demoted to an assistant coaching position.

One sign painted on the sidewalk at the entrance to the administration building read: "Here lies school spirit: Born 1909, died 1939." A short distance away another said, "Down with Doherty."

Both referred to the school's sports de-emphasis policy under Tech president Dr. Robert E. Doherty. The "simon pure" athletic program was blamed for Tech's steady decline in the sports world since 1939.

Dr. Doherty said he wasn't taking the demonstrations seriously as yet. "All we need is a few victories and things will change," he said.

Doherty said he would not read-just Tech's sports policy. He said the Tartan's dismal record had left student morale "as good as it has ever been."

Some members of the football team, however, joined the dissatisfied group, complaining that they "have to hump to keep our grades up and yet play."

Frisco Club Gets Ninth Win of Year

(By United Press)

The San Francisco Forty Niners and Cleveland Browns, admittedly the classiest contingents in the All-American Football conference, still boasted unblemished slates today as they continued their struggle for supremacy in the western division.

San Francisco won its ninth game of the season yesterday, downing the Baltimore Colts, 21 to 10, but the Forty-Niners needed a mighty last-half surge to do it.

But with Frankie Albert's passing not what it was in their first eight victories, San Francisco started moving on the ground. John Strzykalski, who gained 145 yards during the afternoon, scored the first touchdown, galloping 29 yards with Joe Perry getting the second on a 19-yard run. The third came on Albert's 43-yard aerial to Nick Susuoeff. Despite the loss, Baltimore still topped the circuit's eastern division with four victories and four defeats.

WALTZ TO EIGHTH

The defending champion Cleveland Browns waltzed to their eighth victory in a row, smashing the once-mighty New York Yankees, 35 to 7.

The Buffalo Bills, employing the steady passing of George Ratterman and the hard running of Chet Mutryn, toppled the crippled Los Angeles Dons, 35 to 21. With Ratterman doing most of the throwing the Bills covered 310 yards through the air and that told the story.

In a battle of the league's also rans, the Brooklyn Dodgers scored their second victory of the season and also the second over the Chicago Rockets, 35 to 14.

Berliners Prefer City As It Was

Would Rebuild On Same Line

BERLIN—(AP)—If Berliners ever get a chance to rebuild their shattered city most of them would like to have it look just as it did before the war.

They would like destroyed landmarks restored just as they were and the only major change would be to have wider streets in the "city"—the older central part of town.

This is indicated by a survey of public opinion conducted by the British-licensed newspaper "Telegraf," which received answers from about 7,000 Germans on 12 questions on Berlin's reconstruction.

Most of those who answered expressed little patience with grand schemes proposed by some architects and city planners, especially their ideas about revamping the whole traffic system.

Many conceded their answers were dictated by sentimental reasons and fond recollections of how their city looked before bombs and guns reduced it to one of the world's biggest rubble heaps.

This sentimentality attaches especially to Berlin's historic buildings and parks.

For instance, more than 90 per cent of those who replied favored rebuilding the ruined Reichstag building and asked that it be the seat of any future German legislature. The massive ruin was burned out in 1933 and subsequently further damaged by bombs. Some architects have proposed clearing away this hulk and raising another legislative building, when one is needed, on another site.

A majority also asked for reconstruction of the Berliner Dom (cathedral). This huge church is across from the old royal castle and was attended by the Kaisers and their families.

One hundred per cent of those questioned favored reconstruction of the Tiergarten (Berlin's Central Park) near the Brandenburg gate. This once wooded plot is now denuded of trese and divided into small vegetable patches, partly strewn with broken statuary of the former Sieghs Alle (Victory Avenue). Although Berliners need all the food their ground can produce they long for the day when the Tiergarten again will have trees and lovers' lanes.

Proposals to abandon the central "city" and establish business districts in outlying areas were roundly rejected by the newspaper poll. More than 96 per cent wanted this area rebuilt, only with wider streets to accommodate modern traffic.

Newsman Held For Kidnaping

PEORIA, Ill. —(AP)— A St Louis newspaperman investigating the slaying of gangster Bernie Shelton was indicted with three members of the Shelton gang Saturday on charges of kidnaping, intimidation and conspiracy

The reporter, Theodore C. Link of the Post-Dispatch, was indicted by one of two grand juries called to investigate alleged conditions of gambling and corruption in the Peoria area that Link's news stories described Others indicted are Earl Shelton, brother of the slain gang leader, and Ray Walker and Jack Ashby.

The four men were accused of forcibly detaining, assaulting and questioning Peter Petrakos, associate of the slain Shelton brother, in Link's Peoria hotel room the night of July 20 It was after this meeting that Link wrote a series of articles for the Post-Dispatch on conditions in Peoria.

Trucker Held In Strangling

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. —(AP)— A truck driver was booked on a charge of investigation of murder Saturday after he told police he strangled a 35-year-old divorcee whose nude body was found in his hotel room Friday night.

Assistant Prosecutor Roger O McMahon reported that he would seek a murder warrant Monday against Clyde Corbin, 32, of Grand Rapids. The prosecutor and Detective George Lynch said Corbin signed formal statements admitting he smothered the woman in a fit of jealousy.

Who'd Be What In Dewey's Cabinet

Ferdinand Eberstadt • John E. Burton • John Foster Dulles • Harold E. Stassen • Winthrop A. Aldrich • Elliott V. Bell • Louis Bromfield • Rep. Cliff Hope

By LESLIE P. EICHEL
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Gov Thomas E Dewey's "housecleaning" of Washington, if he is elected, will begin prior to his inauguration as president on Jan. 20. Many officeholders consider his election as foreordained fact and are looking for jobs outside government.

From election day—Nov. 2—till inauguration day, somewhat over 11 weeks, no major appointment that will hold can be made without the victor's approval. There are a score or more $10,000 jobs unfilled now. Nobody will take them—for a few weeks

Washington thus already carries on under a state of suspense.

Civil service employes of course are protected, if they perform their tasks satisfactorily. However, if they are in the $8,000-$10,000 class and are at the political top drawer, such as information chiefs, they will be expected to go with their bosses.

The turnover in Washington may reach a peak of several thousand. Turnovers are unique to this generation, due to the longeviety of the Roosevelt administration, However, they are nothing new—even under Civil Service—when administration changes from one political party to another. Franklin D Roosevelt had a sweeping turnover in 1933, just as Warren G. Harding had when he succeeded Woodrow Wilson in 1921.

★

THIS, HOWEVER, will be the largest turnover in United States history, For government employment is the highest on record (although far below wartime) at a change in administration. Government civilian employment (as distinguished from the armed services) will pass 2,200,000, in January. Not quite one-tenth of these work in Washington

Government employment will increase through 1949 despite anything an incoming administration may do—and that because of a Republican Congress The 80th Congress voted for increases totaling approximately 140,000 persons for the fiscal year ending next June 30, It did so willingly because of the world situation

Virtually all the increases have to do with providing extra civilian help for the armed services and international agencies, such as the Economic Co-operation administration. Civilians are needed to service soldiers, sailors, airmen.

President Truman tried to hold Air Force increase down, it will be recalled, but Congress under popular pressure stepped it up.

The new administration is certain to put through mergers of government agencies wherever possible, for it is committed to tighter administration. Franklin D. Roosevelt used the same battlecry when running for office in 1932 against President Herbert Hoover. But the largest increase in government agencies in history occurred under President Roosevelt.

★

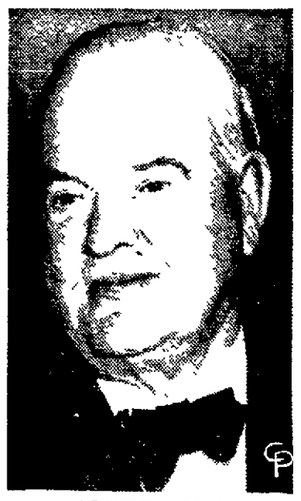
NOW MR. HOOVER heads a commission authorized by Congress to find means of tightening administration. This group—the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government—has had 23 terms of experts surveying all the activities of the federal government It will make its report to Congress in January.

That report will call for drastic consolidations and elimination of duplicative efforts, but also create a larger staff around the president, experts who can make decisions quickly and funnel them into proper channels. Some 60 government agencies now report directly to the president, and the executive offices are unprepared for this burden.

The Hoover commission has 12 members—from Congress, the government, and private life All are considered students of government administration. To carry on its surveys it has called on men and organizations of special knowledge, particularly in management. The majority of its recommendations will have to be enacted into law by Congress. Merely a few of the suggestions can be taken under direct advisement by the president for immediate action

Congress may not approve all the recommendations, nor the president either A reorganization act passed in 1937 gave the president authority for specified changes and mergers, if approved by Congress President Truman seldom was able to obtain congressional approval for his changes.

PRESIDENTIAL-CANDIDATE THOMAS E. DEWEY SPEAKS
If he wins the government employe turnover will be tremendous.



HERBERT HOOVER
He heads reorganization group.

The most powerful veto, under Dewey, will be in the hands of the director of the budget It has been so in New York state Dewey's director of the budget there, young John E Burton, whom the governor terms the "best researcher" he ever has known, already is a familiar figure in Washington.

Burton has been gathering figures here and likewise has been making a survey for the Hoover commission. The belief is that he will become federal budget director with veto power over expansions in operations and personnel.

Who will be secretary of state? Strange to say, that seems undecided. Several months ago the bets were on John Foster Dulles, Dewey's chief foreign adviser and delegate to United Nations' assemblies. Recently, Dulles has been under severe attack. Whether Dewey, who reputedly has had Dulles investigated in the thorough Dewey manner from all angles, will heed the critics is a question.

★

DULLES is attacked (1) for being a member of a New York law firm which represented German cartels and large American "monopolies' prior to the war (2) for recommending Alger Hiss to the trustees of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace as president

Dulles is chairman of the trustees, and has labored for years for peace. Hiss, who did notable work in the State department, especially in the preliminary organizational work for the United Nations' has been up before the House un-American activities committee on allegations of having been a member of the Communist party. He has been persistent in his denials.

Some persons say that the State department job will fall to Harold E Stassen. Washington, which always is cynical, doesn't believe Stassen is big enough On the other hand, Dulles is an untried person in a tough executive job. The State department has grown so extensively that merely administering it requires an astute executive. However the man chosen also must have the sensitive qualities essential in meeting the complexities of world politics.

The secretary must have the finesse of approach and the deep knowledge of affairs and people which will cause the policies he formulates to lead to peace and success, rather than to war and holocaust.

Stassen even has been mentioned to succeed Mr. Forrestal, but that does not seem likely.

OTHER NAMES mentioned for Forrestal's difficult post are Roger W. Straus, New York financier who has advised Dewey for some time, Paul G Hoffman, director of the Economic Co-operation Administration, and Rep Christian A Herter of Massachusetts, who had administrative experience in Washington prior to election to Congress.

Straus probably doesn't desire the strenuous defense post He may prefer a place on the Federal Reserve Board. Representative Herter will be needed in the House as a liberal Republican, INTERNATIONALLY MINDED, TO AID IN PUTTING THROUGH Dewey measures.

Hoffman is too vital in ECA to be lifted out. He would make a good secretary of commerce. Perhaps some day ECA will be incorporated into the Department of Commerce Many of its operations duplicate functions of this permanent department, which allocates and licenses materials for shipments abroad

New York is anxious to know who will be secretary of the treasury. Anxiety stems over the power the Treasury secretary will have to put brakes on inflation—or on deflation, if that begins plunging us downhill.

★

WINTHROP ALDRICH, board chairman of New York's Chase National bank, is mentioned consistently He is a brother-in-law of John D. Rockefeller. He has widespread knowledge of world economics, and the effect of our actions on them.

Although classed as a conservative Wall Streeter, Aldrich is considered in various parts of the world as a liberal and wise thinker in economics. He is not an optimist, he does not believe in cure alls Bankers, however, say he knows where he is going—and where we are headed. Which is something, in these times.

However, Aldrich is not Mr. Dewey's closest adviser on money and economics A former classmate at Columbia university, Elliott W Bell, who later became financial editor of the New York Times, joined Dewey 10 years ago Mr Dewey has turned to him constantly since He is New York state's superintendent of banks but covers a much broader field He does not believe in nostrums

Hottest cabinet spot, so far as public pressure is concerned, will be Agriculture Price supports will remain, but at what percentage of parity? The last Congress dodges the issue with a compromise measure till 1950. However, the chances are supports will remain at 90 per cent of parity for basic crops

★

CLIFFORD R. HOPE, representative from Kansas, chairman of the House agriculture committee has been mentioned for the secretaryship. He is for the 90 per cent parity.

Louis Bromfield, novelist, ardent Ohio agriculturalist, ardent Republican, also is mentioned. However Bromfield has not had the top executive of a huge government agency requires.

The majority of President Truman's nominations in 1948 failed to receive confirmation Interim appointment had to be made The Atomic Energy Commission, up for varying terms, could obtain only a year's renewal

Surely the chairman, David Lilienthal, does not expect renomination by the new president after his attack on the Republican Congress for "witch hunting" of scientists. Mentioned for his place is Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul president of the University of California, a close friend of the Republican vice presidential nominee, Gov Earl Warren.

The job of revitalizing the federal government machine in Washington will be an immense undertaking Inspiration and talent, understanding and knowledge are required.

Can a Thomas E. Dewey obtain the executives who can accomplish the task? Washington hopes so. The rank and file of government workers, who actually have difficult and thankless jobs, will welcome new blood, new inspiration, tighter organization—and recognition of true talent.

Piles Are Never "Mild"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

Civilization Provides Home For Orphaned Red Squirrels

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Some things are difficult to explain

Consider the three little red fox squirrels and how they joined the V F Carters.

"Doc" and "Gertie" Carter went squirrel hunting this fall on the farm of a friend near Radnor Mrs Carter heard a baby squirrel squeaking from a hole high in a tree The infant nut-eater obviously was distressed.

She decided the squirrel's mother had been killed. She couldn't forget the little animal. She kept talking about it to "Doc" when they met in the woods later.

The Carters didn't do anything about it They went home, where they continued to think about the motherless animal in the woods near Radnor

Early next morning, "Doc" returned to the hunting grounds alone and without a gun He said he felt like he was being drawn by an unexplainable force

"Doc" probably feeling just a bit foolish by this time, sat down at a tree near where his wife reported seeing the squirrel. Seconds later, he heard a weak cry of distress and saw a squirrel begin descending the tree

"Doc" said afterward that he voiced a prayer, promising to care for the baby squirrel and give him a home—if the animal would come to him.

And, that's just what the little creature did—it crawled over the ground straight to "Doc's" feet.

He picked it up, heard a thud and saw a second little squirrel from the same nest fall off the tree In a second or two, a third squirrel tumbled to the ground.

These three squirrels now are pets of the neighborhood.

U. S. Seeks Red Bulwark

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Congress probably will be asked to speed up the Army's four-year plan to make Japan self-sustaining and a bulwark against the spread of communism in the Far East.

Responsible officials said Saturday the Army and state departments are agreed that an increase in the present American outlay for economic purposes is needed to get Japanese industry and trade out of low gear. But they hope to balance any cost increase by reducing General MacArthur's occupation forces in Japan along with the number of American troops in Korea.

The aim is to make Japan self-supporting by 1951 Based on the working principle that there will be no peace treaty in the meantime, it is being followed in the face of Soviet Russian attacks on American motives as imperialistic and despite rival proposals that the United States back a "Marshall Plan" for all Asia.

Baby Girl Believed Killed By Infant

Mansfield Girls Get Letters of Thanks

Girl Scouts Aid War Victims

Early last March in Reinheim, Germany, a young German couple became the proud parents of a baby girl. Conditions being what they are in that battle-torn country, the layette for the infant was most inadequate.

Three days after the baby's arrival, a package was delivered to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Huhlinger. In it was a complete layette for their baby, sent with the best wishes of Girl Scout troop 29 of Mansfield, of which Mrs. Lionel Smaltz is troop leader.

One of the troop's most prize possessions is a letter just received from Mrs. Huhlinger in which she writes: "Please say to all givers our best thanks that is coming from our heart, especially to your dear daughter Scouts. How grateful must we feel when you place yourselves over the ocean at our side with your readiness to help us."

In describing the arrival of the package, Mrs. Huhlinger wrote: "Our little baby must, in the first days, be content with paper swaddlings. Three days later your packet arrived and with it you can't imagine all our joy. The soap alone caused an expression of joy. Quite otherwise we can now meet the new day."

This was just one of 43 clothing kits mailed from Mansfield to foreign countries by the 70 Girl Scout troops of the city which are participating in the national program of the Girl Scout organization in collecting and sending clothing to children in other countries.

In addition to those already mailed, fourteen are now in the process of being assembled, with at least five more planned for shipment. The original plans called for each troop to send one kit, but several troops have sent many more than their quota.

Mrs. Frank Gadfield's troop, number 53, has 16 girls, each of whom has been responsible for providing clothing for one complete package. The girls, all students at Rebecca Grubaugh school, have been meeting at their leader's home with their mothers to sort the clothing and package it for mailing, it was learned.

"ONE A MONTH"

Mrs. Hans Plaut's troop of girl scouts have sent eight packages abroad, and plan to send one each month until the program is completed.

The packages, which are called "Friendship Kits", are divided into three classifications, infant, one to four year age groups, and the four to fourteen year old clothing requirements.

Along with the "Friendship Kit" project, Mansfield's Girl Scouts are participating in a program to send CARE packages abroad. Already twelve have been mailed, with others to follow.

Funds for the purchase of the packages have been secured through a plan adopted by the Girl Scouts who agreed to have a Juliette Low Birthday party last March, but serve no refreshments. The money thus saved was turned over to the CARE package fund, and amounted to $162, Miss Margaret Rooney, executive secretary of the Mansfield Girl Scouts, explained.

Mrs. K. E. Buhr, who is council chairman for the CARE package and "Friendship Kit" program, also has received a letter from the recipient of one of the Girl Scout's gifts.

The writer, a young native of Czechoslovakia, is a medical student in Nuremberg, Germany. His letter described conditions in his homeland, and told in detail of the terror and privation in his land, which is under Russian domination. This situation was responsible for his transferring from a medical school in his homeland to a university in Germany.

His letter said "I and all my friends were very surprised at our gift. I, in my name and the names of all the others, thank you."

Similar letters of thanks and appreciation have been received from other countries by troop leaders, and all of them will be read to the Girl Scouts when they meet at John Simpson Junior high school next Saturday afternoon for a "Scouts Own" program, when the 1,270 Girl Scouts of the city will hear reports on their project.

The Girl Scouts, whose program is directed by 500 adult volunteer leaders, is a Red Feather agency of the Mansfield Community Chest, which is conducting a campaign to raise $122,635.

Ohio Prexy Defends Poe

SPRINGFIELD — (U.P.) — Dr. John Ward Ostrom today came to the defense of Edgar Allan Poe, who long has been pegged as a man with little moral character.

Dr. Ostrom's two-volume work, "The Letters of Edgar Allan Poe," was published today by the Harvard University Press.

It is true that the famed poet and story-teller did a lot of moaning and whining, the Wittenberg college English instructor said. "But it must be remembered," he added, "that he was not only destitute but sick much of the time that his wife was ill for six years before her death."

"His letters, however, give no indication that he was either a drug addict or a confirmed drunkard, and they do indicate that he was faithful to his wife," Dr. Ostrom said. "From all appearances, his so-called affairs with women came after his wife's death."

Dr. Ostrom believes that the general impression that Poe was a drunkard has been greatly magnified.

Traffic Jam Created By Street Birth

PORTLAND, Ore. — (U.P.) — Attendants at the Portland Dog and Cat hospital reported a litter of cocker spaniel puppies doing nicely today.

Their birth Friday created quite a stir.

Police helped the dog whelp then rushed her to the hospital to uncork the traffic jam.

Palestine Made Issue In U. S. Presidential Campaign

Truman Rips Rival's Move On Problem

Both Candidates On Speaking Tours

(By United Press)

The 1948 political campaign went into the final round today with the Truman and Dewey camps accusing each other of playing politics with the Palestine issue to woo the Jewish vote

Election day is a week from tomorrow and the Jewish vote will be important in many places especially New York with its 47 electoral votes Both President Truman and his Republican rival, Gov Thomas E Dewey, will make major speeches there before the week is out.

Mr Truman left Washington by train last night for his wind-up swing, with his first big address set for tonight in Chicago Dewey, who begins his final tour tonight will speak in Chicago tomorrow night

Before leaving the capital Mr Truman issued a statement charging Dewey with an attempt to make political capital out of the question of partitioning Palestine The charge was quickly thrown back at him by Dewey's campaign manager, Herbert Brownell jr

Mr. Truman's statement was prompted by one which Dewey had issued Friday in which Dewey 'wholehearted support of the original United Nations plan for partitioning Palestine It had been interpreted in some quarters as criticism of the modified plan which the administration had endorsed

Mr Truman said he was now and always had been in favor of the original plan And while he described the present proposal as a hopeful basis for negotiation, he assured the Jews he would insist on a final solution fully acceptable to them

The president said he had hoped foreign affairs would continue to be handled on a non-partisan basis but that Dewey's statement 120 days before the campaign made it necessary for him to restate his position

Brownell said Dewey's statement was a 'perfectly proper" reply to a request for information and that it was Mr Truman who was trying to play politics with the Palestine issue

Other political developments

Wallace—Henry A Wallace the Progressive party presidential nominee urged that the United States Russia and Britain get out of Germany and turn their police job over to France and smaller European nations He said the big three inevitably use Germany as a pawn in their power politics

States Righters—a council of States Rights Democrats meeting in Memphis, decided to keep their movement alive along present lines after the election and until the fight is won They said it would continue until Democrats in all states return to the fundamental principles of the party

Specifically, Butts was charged with annoying a Wayne street woman and was fined $10 and costs. During the summer he received a 30-day suspended jail sentence for annoying the same woman. Today Judge H. H. Schettler vacated the previous suspension and ordered Butts committed to jail to serve out the time.

Homer Napper, Galion, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, was fined $75 and costs and lost his right to drive for six months.

Gale H. Sims, 226 Park avenue east, received a similar sentence for failing to stop after an accident. Gaylord McElvain, Mansfield, R. D. 4, also charged with leaving the scene of an accident, pleaded guilty. His case was continued for disposition until tomorrow.

Harlan H. McWilliams, Savannah, was fined $75 and costs for having physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

James Deschner, 136 Columbia avenue, was fined $15 and costs for unsafe operation and Clifford C. Jones, Jeromesville, was fined $10 and costs for failure to yield the right of way.

Lausche Urges Fair Tax Share

(By a State Correspondent)

BUCYRUS — An equitable distribution of the surplus from the state's tax collections to the various governmental units was urged here by Democratic candidate for governor, Frank J. Lausche, at a Crawford county rally Saturday night.

Lausche said he had proposed six months ago that a study be made of the state's tax system with a view of bringing about a more equitable distribution of revenues.

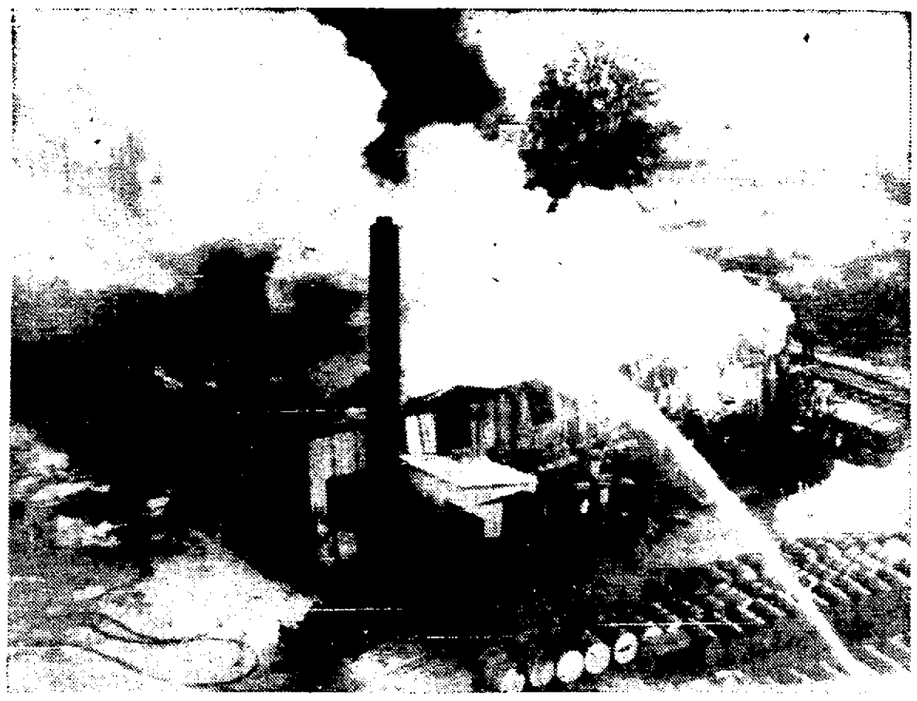
"This week, Governor Herbert finally got around to making a similar suggestion," declared Mr. Lausche.

The former Democratic governor also promised a housecleaning in the state agriculture department if he is elected governor.

"The state agriculture department is a political football," asserted Mr. Lausche. He charged that two of his agricultural department employes, receiving salaries totaling $11,000, were discharged and six Republicans hired in their places with salaries totaling $44,000.

Other speakers included George D. Nye of Waverly, candidate for lieutenant governor and Andrew Dursin of Kenton, candidate for congress.

Candidates for Crawford county offices were introduced by James R. Kehrer, Bucyrus, president of the Crawford County Young Democrats' club, sponsors of the rally.



FOUR HURT IN OHIO FIRE—Four persons were injured when a Sun Oil company warehouse, valve house and two trucks exploded and burned just west of the Columbus city limits. 5 Groups Endorse City School Bond

Five city organizations have given written endorsements to the proposed $2,250,000 school bond issue, according to Dr. Edwin Fensch, director of research for Mansfield schools.

Plan Exchange Programs For School Class Choirs

Senior high school students; who are members of the sophomore, junior and senior choirs, will be able to exchange programs with other Ohio schools if the "autumn festival" planned for Saturday night is as much a success as that held last year, A. Lemoine Derr, director, said today.

Last year at least 2,000 parents and friends were present for the vaudeville and concession programs.

This year the gymnasium at Senior high school will be divided by a picket fence. On one side will be placed tables where gally costumed waitresses will provide soft drinks and food. The other side will be reserved for dancing to the music of Dick Butts' orchestra.

Concession booths will range the entire length of the upper and lower first floor halls. The vaudeville program this year will be named "Modern Melodies" and will be presented in the auditorium at 8 p. m., and again at 9:15 p. m., each show running for 45 minutes.

The entertainment is under the direction of Martha Shiplet and Jean Turner. Among entertainers will be winners of last year's state musical contest at Cleveland.

AMERICAN FAMILY CLOSE-UP

As they go, so goes the nation!

Only 60 days to find a house!

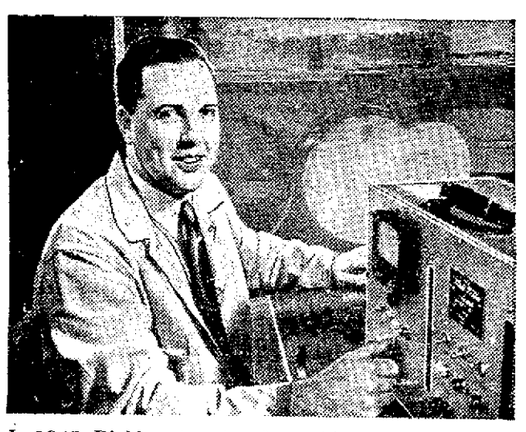
...yet the Richard N. Clarkes were prepared

Summer picnics, like house hunting, are more successful for this Troy, N. Y., family because they're all in on it!

How to get a house has been the question for many a family since the war. But Dick and Emma Clarke were ready to tackle this problem the same way they've handled others ever since their marriage. Right from the start, they'd noticed that the most successful families were those who did things as a family. They set out to see if they, too, couldn't get ahead faster, have more fun by working out plans and problems as a team . . .

Getting a better job was the first problem after marriage. They decided that Dick would take night courses at college, while Emma continued to add her pay as teller in a New York bank to his $35-a-week from a utility firm. Dick still studies up on latest engineering wrinkles.

No "problem children" in the Clarke family! For little Pauline, 3, like her brothers, Richie, 5, and Robbie, 1½, Mr. and Mrs. Clarke agreed that a good mixture of happy freedom and firm discipline is the best thing!



In 1942, Dick's extra studying paid off! He was offered a job near Troy, N.Y. He and Emma decided that the change would be wise, though it meant a war-time move to a strange town. An instrument engineer, he makes between $4,000 and $5,000 a year.

But last spring a blow fell! The Clarkes were given just 60 days to find a new house! Together they hunted around Troy . . . finally found an 80-year-old farmstead, well-built, but far from modern. They had to have a house . . . but could they afford to buy it . . . to make improvements?

To pay for the needed improvements, the Clarkes saw they'd have to be sure every future penny counted. Expert at sewing, Mrs. Clarke agreed to help save money by making things like curtains herself. Dick would do painting, other jobs, himself.

But how to buy the house itself? After a heart-to-heart talk with their life insurance agent, they saw their way clear! "We found that our life insurance was ready to work for us now as well as for the future," the Clarkes explain. "Our agent showed us how our life insurance could be helpful in this emergency, without losing the protection we needed, too." The house costs $58 a month. This fits right into their budget, as does their new life insurance program. "In spite of the rough spots everyone has," say the Clarkes, "we're getting a lot from life. We make it a family affair!"

More time for fishing is one of Dick's dreams. And as his income increases—college for the children, going places and seeing things with Mrs. Clarke.

THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES AND THEIR AGENTS

BRING YOU THIS STORY BECAUSE... families like the Clarkes show us one way that happiness is earned! You, yourself, probably know a family, right in your own town, that is getting ahead in the same typically American way. Such families prove to all of us that we can solve our own problems by our own efforts. . . . Their example shows, too, why it is so important for us to hold to our rights to think for ourselves, to work at what we like, to live as we choose. For what this country amounts to depends upon what happens to its homes!

Some Reasons For Preferring Dewey

WITH THE CHOICE for next President of the United States resting between Harry S. Truman and Thomas E. Dewey, it appears that a considerable majority of voters have already decided in favor of Dewey, rather than for a continuance in office of Truman, who, under no circumstances, would have been the Democratic nominee for the presidency had Fate not placed him in that high position after the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It was through political manipulation that Truman, product of the unsavory Missouri Pendergast machine, came to be the Democratic vice presidential nominee at the Chicago convention in 1944, and the desperate effort made by a large segment of the Democratic party to prevent his nomination in Philadelphia last July evidenced recognition of his lack of qualifications for the office of President.

On the other hand, the record of Thomas E. Dewey, present governor of New York, has been such as to inspire confidence that he has the capacity to grow to the requirements of increased responsibilities, and that his thinking is keen and sound on domestic problems and international affairs.

Great needs during the next four years will be governmental efficiency, unity of national purpose, integrity in handling public business, and adoption of sound policies for raising the standard of living, promoting family security and spreading opportunity for all citizens.

It is a noteworthy trait of Governor Dewey that his analytical mind cuts through to the essentials of a problem and that he is resourceful in planning in advance to surmount anticipated difficulties.

Dewey, now at the age of 46, has won his way upward step by step, always in ways that inspired confidence in his ability and integrity, and his record of accomplishments in his successful battle against racketeers and gangsters in New York City, and later as a progressive governor of that great state, has been such as to win admiration and respect of people all over the country.

This accounts, in large measure, for the departure from precedent which gained for him the Republican nomination for President after having been defeated by Roosevelt four years ago, and fair consideration of comparable qualifications leaves no doubt that preference must be for Dewey.

France's 'Hooded Men' Being Tried

JUSTICE is belated in France, as in some other countries, but it does get there. After eleven years the French are bringing to trial the surviving leaders of the Cagoulards, or Hooded Men, who made a sensation in 1937. They were a masked organization, like the Ku Klux Klan, which indulged in petty outrages, and which later was discovered to be hooked up with a more dangerous group, the Committee for Revolutionary Action.

This group had hidden large quantities of weapons, and was obviously planning a violent overthrow of the government. It was suppressed temporarily, but emerged again under the nazis, and its members were all faithful supporters of their country's enemies.

The originators of the Cagoulards and the Committee for Revolutionary Action, of whom Eugene Deloncle was one, died during the war; but enough leaders remain to make it desirable to try them. This process is now beginning, with good prospects that it may rid France of some dangerous characters.

Panama Canal May Have Rival

ANOTHER Atlantic-Pacific canal is contemplated. The Colombian government has appointed a committee of experts to confer with appointees from the United States to look into the feasibility of a route via the Atrato river. This flows into the Caribbean below the junction of the mainland with the Isthmus of Panama; its course covers half of the distance between the two oceans.

Nicaragua has usually been the choice of searchers for another canal. Lake Nicaragua lies temptingly across the middle of the neck of land between the oceans, thereby reducing the amount of digging necessary. One great objection to the Nicaragua route has been the volcanic nature of the country.

Whether the Atrato region escapes this disadvantage will be one of the points for study. In any case it may be prophesied that Panama will not always remain the only canal between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

'Friends of the Library' Organize

DOES the public library have friends? Presumably it does, else there would not be much use in having it; but are these friends organized?

Westport, Conn., has just organized a group known as Friends of the Library, an idea which has already worked successfully in some other cities. They will help to make the library's services better known. More particularly, they will do their best to increase the library's funds, by showing the taxing authorities that citizens value the library.

Librarians may do their best, but for the most part they have to do it inside the library, subject to circumstances they are not able to control. Public spirited citizens may do much as a group to give outside help.

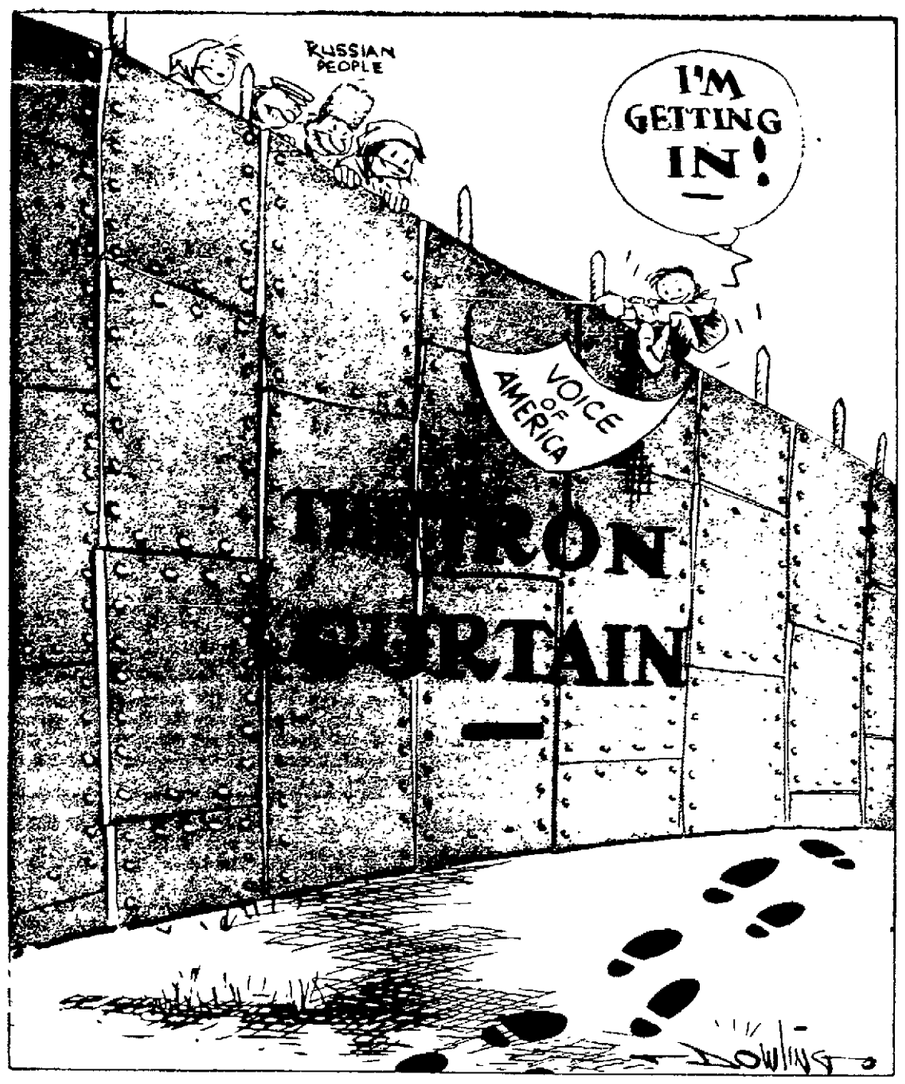
The demand for library service increases everywhere as people learn the uses and pleasures provided by books. Any help given the library also helps the community.

Fantastic Stories Gaining Readers

HOW LONG will the big demand for detective stories last, and what will succeed it? Publishers would be happier if they knew the answer to the first question, but some of them think they can reply to the second. They think that stories of the fantastic are the next candidates for popular favor.

This is not a new development. Jules Verne and H. G. Wells always had good followings for their stories of life in a submarine or in an airship bound for the moon. Their successors, less known to the general public, are writers like H. P. Lovecraft and L. Sprague de Camp, whose out-of-print books are amazingly expensive. And currently it is noted that magazines devoted to the fantastic are numerous and successful.

Harry Wade admits having no intelligent opinion on so-called "comic books," his explanation being that "no one is meeting our charge of $75 an hour for reading same."



Everybody Look at Junior!

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Politics Just South of the Ohio River

DESPITE geographical proximity, West Virginia and Kentucky have quite different political problems and characteristics. This year, however, the two states have a common interest which is also a national concern.

Both have Republican senators who are fighting hard for reelection. Both races promise to be close. The situation looks fairly bright for Republican Sen. John S. Cooper in Kentucky and about even for Republican Sen. Chapman Revercomb in West Virginia.

In West Virginia the final result may well depend on the vote of the miners. They have been instructed by their leaders to vote for former Sen. Matthew Neely.

Republicans hope, however, that their indifferent or hostile attitude toward President Truman will send them, on election day, away from the polls and into the hills, deer hunting.

In any event, there will be plenty of hunting on Nov. 2 and whether there will be a lot of frightened deer or scared Republicans remains to be seen.

Apathy toward all presidential candidates, including Wallace, seems to dominate these October days.

* * *

Old-Fashioned Ballots.

WALLACE will take some votes from Neely, but the Dixiecrats are not a factor. Neely, of course, is strong for Truman. Neely, in his 74th year, is still a strong campaigner and the state Democratic machine, fighting for life, knows all the tricks of the trade.

Revercomb has not been hurt in West Virginia by his alleged isolationism and his stand on displaced persons, despite the apparent displeasure of Dewey and Warren.

The national trend favors Dewey's carrying the state and since the ballot form is the old-fashioned straight variety, Dewey will tend to pull the ticket through. At this writing, the race is even.

* * *

Strong for Barkley.

Dewey's chances on the political turf of Kentucky are not good. Barkley's name on the ticket means a lot in this state. So despite a national tide, Kentucky spirit will sustain the native son's ticket. There will be little Dixiecrat strength. The 80,000 Democratic majority of 1944 will not be reached this year. Democrats will settle now for 50,000.

The race for the Senate favors Cooper. He has no labor handicap, since he and his opponent, Virgil Chapman, both voted for the Taft-Hartley law. Cooper appeals to progressive Democrats and Republicans.

The Louisville Courier-Journal—a sort of political racing form for eastern journalists who visit the state—is for Cooper, Truman and Barkley.

Chapman is helped by a Democratic state administration which won easily last year after an unsuccessful and unpopular Republican stay at the state house.

The state government has helped itself by a gasoline tax program which is popular among the farmers. With the Democrats in good shape and, as a sage Kentuckian remarked, with "all their fences up," Cooper will have hard running against the local tide. But the best judges think he will finish first.

Viewing the National Scene

Louisiana's Real Boss

By THOMAS L. STOKES

NEW ORLEANS — Every so often you can go right to the nub of a political situation that otherwise might be baffling by ferreting out a forceful character who combines politics with business. Knows what he wants, and knows how to operate politically to get it.

Such in Louisiana politics just now is Leander B. Perez, attorney general of Plaquemines parish who is recognized as the real boss of the Louisiana Democrat organization which includes two of the old Huey Long clan—Huey's brother Earl, who is governor, and his son, Russell Long, who will be the new United States senator from this state in the next Congress.

Mr. Perez is the power behind the Dixiecrats movement in this state and his direction of it and his use of the regular organization to promote it explains why the betting today is that the Dixiecrats will run first in this state in November, with a scramble for second place between President Truman and Governor Dewey. It is possible that Mr. Truman may wind up third.

Mr. Perez's business interests, furthermore, explain the economic influences behind the Dixiecrat campaign which, as anybody might guess who knows anything about Louisiana politics, include oil, always a major factor in the state's politics.

Here in replica, too, is a diagram of the Dixiecrat movement as a whole and what is back of it as pointed out often here before. It is based upon exploitation of so-called "state rights" and the racial issue to serve selfish private interests, including oil, utilities, textile and finance, among others, to end once and for all any threat from New Dealism that Harry S. Truman took over from Franklin D. Roosevelt.

New Dealism stands for a watchful eye from Washington on natural resources, such as oil and electric power, to protect the public and a watchful eye to see that other industrial interests protect workers and preserve competition.

State rights means leaving such matters to the less watchful and more easily controlled state governments, which is what the powerful economic interests behind the Dixiecrats movement want.

* * *

Oil Interests Involved.

THE big issue here is state control rather than federal control of oil-bearing tidelands in which Louisiana is so rich. Plaquemine parish, of which Mr. Perez is the political overlord, embraces that section of the delta about the mouth of the Mississippi river and is reputed to have more miles of coast line than it contains square miles in its entirety.

Mr. Perez is interested in oil, among other holdings. His has been one of those careers in politics, that is paradoxical but, after all, not too unusual.

He started out in politics as a reformer, but eventually he became involved in those complex business arrangements that go along with politics, particularly in this state, and now he is powerful in both business and politics, a winning combination. His dominant political interest just now is state rather than federal control of tidal oil lands.

The Truman administration is for federal control. Mr. Truman, therefore, must be driven from the White House at all costs to protect the oil interests here and in other southern states that have coastal lands.

It was Mr. Perez who was behind the action of the state Democratic committee some weeks ago in ruling President Truman off the ballot, a matter that since has been rectified by a special session of the legislature called by Governor Long.

The Truman-Barkley ticket has been given the ballot symbol of a donkey, rather than the familiar rooster which was appropriated by the Dixiecrats and which is so much the stamp of the regular Democratic ticket in this state that it is believed many voters who want to cast their ballots for the President will cast them under the rooster by mistake.

Pat Hurley Campaigns With Fiery Vigor

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note — The brass ring, good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, today goes to Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war in the Hoover cabinet.)

* * *

ALBUQUERQUE — White-maned and bushy-eyebrowed, Patrick J. Hurley, one of the last political relics of the Hoover administration, has been romping and stomping through New Mexico in his campaign for senator as if he were fresh out of Baptist Indian college where he went to school.

It has now been nearly 20 years since the death of Secretary of War Jim Good catapulted Pat, then young and boisterous, into a coveted spot in the Hoover cabinet. But Pat has not changed much since then.

He is just as good at ranting, back-slapping, yelling at congressional committees, twisting the lion's tail and making the eagle scream.

Pat Hurley's aspirations to come back to Washington bring nostalgic memories of a now almost forgotten past. When he first arrived as a junior member of the Hoover administration, dining out was one of the capital's major businesses, and cabinet members studied the question of who would sit where at dinner with the same care we now give to Russian diplomatic notes.

Pat and his beautiful wife Ruth were great assets to this era. In front of full-length mirrors, they rehearsed their bows and their entrances before going out to dinner. They were the handsomest couple in the cabinet. Perhaps not realizing that Washington has changed, Pat has been hankering to get back to the tinsel and gold braid ever since.

That was why the unquenchable Hurley went out to New Mexico and tried to defeat Dennis Chavez for the Senate in 1946. One of the things that hurt him in that race was that although he claimed New Mexican residence since 1935, he forgot to pay taxes not only then but for several years thereafter.

The voters of New Mexico considered payment of taxes an important obligation of good citizenship and they did not send Pat to the Senate.

* * *

Uphill Battle.

NOW the indefatigable Hurley is back again, this time running against popular Clinton Anderson, longtime resident of New Mexico, formerly its lone congressman and later secretary of agriculture.

It's an uphill battle. However, there is one thing you can say for Hurley. In the long years between his exit from the Hoover administration to his current senatorial campaign, Pat has never lacked the knack of keeping his name in the headlines.

Sometimes the headlines haven't been so kind, as when he ordered his Cadillac car flown over the Himalaya mountains from India to China in an Army plane when U. S. troops in China critically needed war supplies.

Or again, he didn't come off too well when Sen. Walter Langer of North Dakota officially demanded an explanation of the $30,000 jewelry and furs given to Mrs. Hurley by the Chiang Kai-Shek government.

* * *

Oil Company Fee.

LANGER also demanded an explanation of the fact that Hurley, while serving as U. S. ambassador, received $108,000 from the Sinclair Oil company. No satisfactory answer to this question was ever given by the state department or by Hurley himself.

It is highly unusual for an American ambassador to receive a fee from an American corporation, especially an oil company. The fact that he received the $108,000 was never denied. It was even stated officially by the Sinclair company.

Nor did the state department have any answer to Senator Langer's question as to why Hurley, though ambassador to China, went out of his way to visit the Near Eastern oil fields, and actually recommended a grandiose plan whereby the United States would virtually take over the Near East.

* * *

Hurley's Decorations.

ONE of the things that constantly astonishes friends of Patrick J. Hurley is his amazing and charming gall. His bosom blossoms with an imposing array of military decorations, but the person who admires them has no way of knowing just how they were collected.

One incident Hurley doesn't brag about, for instance, is his exit from Darwin, Australia, in 1942. Roosevelt, who wanted to curry Republican support, had given Hurley a roving mission in the South Pacific, and Pat flew into Darwin one day just ahead of the Japs.

As an ambassador he carried with him the state department's secret code, used for radioing secret messages back to the U. S. A. This code is guarded so carefully that diplomats when traveling sometimes chain it to their wrist when they go to bed at night.

However, Ambassador Hurley left the code in his airplane at the Darwin airport while he spent the night in town. That night Jap airplanes attacked. What became of the code no one knows. The state department hoped that it was burned in the bombing of the airport.

Next morning, a special train carried Australians and Americans out of Darwin. As the train steamed south ahead of the Japs, the locomotive engineer had to stop. For on the tracks ahead, pumping a handcar for dear life, were two men, one of them the former secretary of war in the Hoover cabinet. Pat couldn't wait for the special train to escape the Japs. Later, believe it or not, he received a decoration.

Washington Calling

More Probes Expected

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE REPORT persists that the House un-American activities committee means to turn its attention next to the universities and the threat of "subversive" forces in higher education. The committee, so the report goes, will open up first on Columbia university in New York.

That would be in accord with the pattern established by this headline-hunting body. Because the president of Columbia is Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, anything to do with that university will get a higher ratio of publicity.

But the committee is likely to find that President Eisenhower is prepared to meet them on their own ground. Before going headline hunting in the great university over which he presides, the members of the committee would do well to read the address he gave when he was formally installed as president.

In that address Eisenhower clearly stated the right of academic inquiry and the freedom to teach political doctrines considered evil. As the General pointed out, a medical student has not merely the right but the duty to study cancer and its causes and so does the political scientist have the right to explore the pathology of politics.

In the six months he has been at Columbia, Eisenhower has carefully and thoroughly surveyed the teaching staff. Aware of the possibility of an investigation, he has kept in mind the question of "un-American teaching."

Recently he spent a day in frank and full discussion with the faculty of Teachers College, which is the branch of the university most often accused of radicalism.

Eisenhower came away convinced of the true Americanism of Teachers College. By taking statements out of their content and by other tricks of distortion some members of the faculty had been deliberately smeared.

* * *

Confidence In Eisenhower.

THE HOUSE committee will find President Eisenhower prepared not merely to defend the record of Columbia but to praise it before the world. They will find in him an able and courageous champion of academic freedom.

What the committee would hope to find at Columbia is obvious. They would like to ferret out someone on the faculty who had fallen for communism, get him or her up before the movie cameras and then go to town as they have done in the past.

There may be such an individual or individuals. Columbia is a large institution made up of persons of many diverse origins and backgrounds. But such a discovery will have nothing to do with the great body of teaching at Columbia or, for that matter, at any other large American university.

Manifestations of thought coercion and guilt by association are developing in a frightening fashion. It is not merely rhetoric to say that freedoms profoundly and inherently American are threatened today.

I have been hearing of things that have happened here in Washington in connection with the loyalty investigation that I could hardly believe were happening in this free country of ours. Fear and suspicion are poisoning the lives of American citizens who have never had the slightest shadow of a thought of disloyalty.

Before the New York Herald-Tribune forum the other day Paul A. Porter, former OPA director, made a suggestion that deserves serious consideration.

He proposed appointment by the President of a committee of top-ranking Americans who would "appraise the dangers and disasters of political demagoguery in abolishing our freedoms while pretending to protect our security."

Specifically, Porter proposed that Eisenhower be named as the chairman of such a committee. Presumably the committee would be appointed by the incoming President.

But there are many arguments, it seems to me, for the appointment of such a committee by President Truman immediately after the election. And if General Eisenhower could be persuaded to accept the chairmanship, President-elect Dewey (as he presumably will be) should welcome the move.

Farmer's Diary

'Showing Her Age'

By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE RAIN began with a pleasant drizzle that moistened the soil just enough to bring out the earthy odors—and to prevent us from sowing winter wheat. So I took a little ramble by myself up over the hills to the very top field, where the sky seems vast, and the panorama of the Clear Fork valley is outspread for miles.

The dampened leaves were falling, making patches of vivid yellow and red upon the ground beneath each maple. The sumac was reddening as it clung frantically to its stem—an occasional vivid leaf clung like wet paper to an upright brier or stiff weed, surprising the passer by its incongruity.

Little rills of clear water ran in the path beneath the arching overhanging scrub oaks; cattle stood still in the pasture letting the rain soak their hides and run off in a stream beneath bellies and along legs, hooves and noses. The pigs had warmed a spot and lay side by side contentedly cooperating at maintaining their body temperature.

A late robin perched on a forest branch but did not speak a robin's greeting to a waiting stranger. Instead he kept quiet—and dodged down, listened, then pulled out a worm.

The meadow lark was enjoying himself. He kept up a cheerful call that was answered presently from numerous places around the valley. Heaps of yellow corn lay upon the ground in a cornfield, with the husked out fodder prone beside them. Other rows of upright shocks remained to be husked.

The air was clean-washed, fragrant and cool. Refreshing vigor seemed to have blown into the valley making it ready for some important change.

Mother Nature had wrung out the lowering gray clouds upon the hills and sluiced away the dust and tiredness of weeks to bring the brilliance of Indian summer.

By evening the rain had settled into a steady patter. The indoor fireside was welcome. Next morning the chill was sharp—word came that snow had fallen in the Dakotas. A blustering squalling breeze rustled the curling fallen leaves that had lost their brilliance overnight. Other leaves sailed eastward in showers upon the wind. The first big maple in our row of four showed stark black branches. Autumn trembled, shivered all along the valley and began to show her age.

Births, Enrollments Show Need for Bond Issue

Two sets of figures that dramatically point up the need for approval of the $2,250,000 school bond issue at the polls Nov. 2—if Mansfield is to avoid a continuing crisis in its educational system—were disclosed today by W. R. Mabee, general chairman of the school bond issue committee

One set of figures showed the sharp increase in school enrollment in the last three years, in addition to tracing school attendance figures as far back as 1925.

The other set of figures involved the unprecedented gain in the city's birth rate—indicating that there is no possibility of the school problem lessening in the years to come.

"The combination of these figures show that we cannot expect the situation to ease in the years to come," Mabee said yesterday "Instead, we must appeal to the voters of Mansfield to approve the bond issue on Nov. 2 to provide the necessary school facilities for the present and for the years to come as well There is no evidence that our school enrollment will decrease in the future—instead it is bound to grow at a rapid rate."

Mabee presented figures in chart form to show the steady growth of school enrollment from 1925 through 1945, and the really startling increase from 1945 through 1948

In 1925, the figures showed, the total enrollment in the Mansfield school system was 5,698. In 1945, it was 6,244—an increase in 20 years of 556 or slightly more than 27 pupils per year.

However, the increase in the three short years from 1945 through 1948 was 647 more than the entire gain for the preceding 20 years

"Those comparative figures alone point to the imperative need for approval of the bond issue Nov. 2, if we are to provide adequate school facilities for our children," Mabee said

Birth figures in the city have followed just about the same pattern as school enrollment, Mabee went on. Slightly more than 600 births were reported in 1925. By 1940, the figure had grown to 913. And in the eight years after 1940, births almost doubled. In 1947, 1804 births were reported in the city.

"On the basis of those figures," Mabee said, "it is clear that we cannot expect the situation to ease up in the immediate future If we are to have even a workable minimum in school facilities, passage of the bond issue is our only hope"

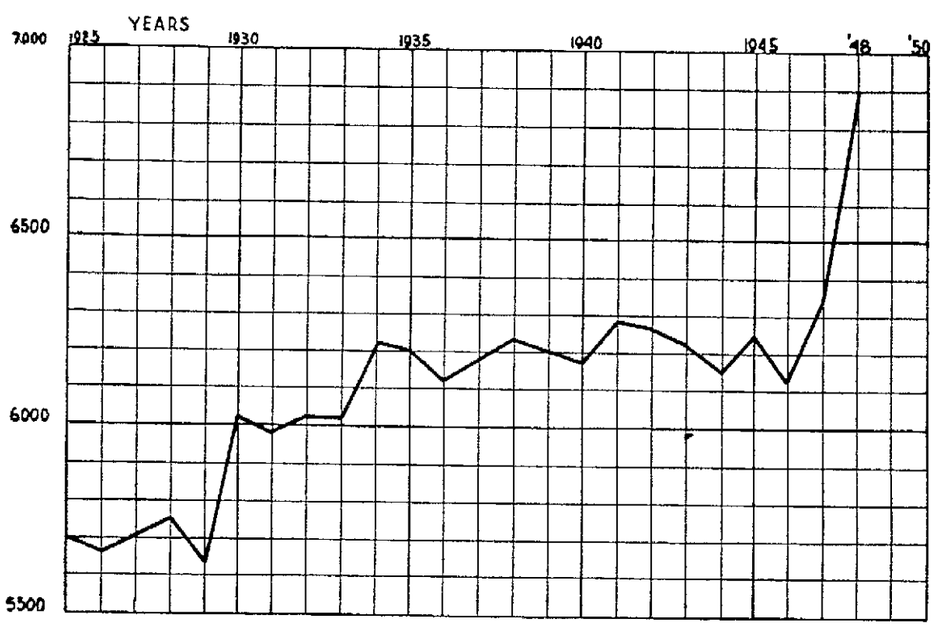
BIRTH RATE CHART—School enrollment figures in Mansfield aren't likely to drop off in the immediate future—another reason the school board needs the $2,500,000 it is asking voters to approve, in the form of a bond issue, at the polls Nov. 2 From 1925 to 1945, births climbed from slightly more than 600 to 1,143. But in the three following years births climbed to 1804. Soon, those children will be entering school It's up to the voters of Mansfield to decide on Nov. 2 whether the city's schools will be able to handle them



SCHOOL ENROLLMENT CHART—From 5,698 in 1925 to 6,244 in 1945—an increase in school enrollment of 556 in 20 years. Then came the deluge—a gain of 647 pupils in three short years, from 6,244 in 1945 to 6,891 in 1948. That's why Mansfield needs more school buildings, and why the school board is asking for a $2,250,000 bond issue on Nov. 2 to "finish the job" it started in 1945.

MISS MILDRED CROSE WEDS WILLIAM HUDSON SUNDAY

Formal Ceremony Solemnized at St. Mark's Lutheran Church; Reception at Leland.

ST. MARK'S LUTHERAN CHURCH was the scene of the pretty wedding of Miss Mildred Crose and William I. Hudson, Sunday afternoon. Miss Crose and Mr. Hudson exchanged nuptial vows at 2:30 p. m. with the Rev. C. A. Portz officiating for the single ring service before an altar decorated with ferns, palms and beauty baskets of fall flowers. The scene was lighted by tall tapers.

Miss Crose, 560 Springmill street, is the daughter of Arthur Crose, 556 Springmill street, and Mr. Hudson, 194 Taylor road, is the son of W. D. Hudson, Columbus, Ohio.

Miss Ruth Ishman presided at the organ for the nuptial music. Harry M. Doelling, brother-in-law of the bride, was the soloist for the ceremony.

A white satin gown with a square cut neckline of lace was chosen by the bride for the wedding. The long tight sleeves came to points over her hands and the full skirt ended in a long train. A beaded headpiece held the full length veil in place. Mr. Doelling gave the bride in marriage. Miss Crose carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Mrs. Harry Doelling, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a formal gown of white. Miss Oleta Novotny, niece of the bride, Miss Martha Grabler, friend of the couple; Miss Kaye Niman, also a close friend and Mrs. Frank Gillingham, were the bridesmaids. They were attired in gowns of pastel shades of pink, blue, yellow and orchid. All the attendants carried flowers to match their gowns.

Joseph Trelease, friend of the couple, served as best man.

Michael Hallabrin, Lloyd Stricker, William Allen and Bud Oakes of Shelby, all friends of the couple, escorted the guests to their pews.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for 150 guests was held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. The long buffet table was centered with a five tiered cake. Pastel flowers were placed throughout the room.

For her honeymoon to Michigan and Canada Mrs. Hudson wore a beige suit with brown accessories and a green topper.

The couple will be at home at 560 Springmill street after Nov. 1.

Mrs Hudson attended Madison high school and has been employed at Campbell's Lounge. Mr. Hudson, a graduate of Central high school, Columbus, is employed at the United Insurance company.

COLUMBUS — More than 200 Mansfield area students enrolled at Ohio State university, burned the midnight oil over the week end as they prepared to plunge into the first fall midterms with one-fourth of the current term gone by.

Aside from the gaiety and the hurly burly of Columbus' colorful football week ends, the announcement of fraternity and sorority pledges and reactivation of the university's Mansfield club ranked high socially for hometowners at State.

Mansfield club members and their friends were notified over the week end by Bob Mercer, the group's president, of the club's first fall meeting Wednesday, Oct. 27, in the Ohio Union.

Along fraternity row, names of five Mansfielders and two area men were released as having pledged the following social fraternities. They are:

From Mansfield — Richard Logan, pledged Kappa Sigma; David E. Bell, Phi Kappa Sigma; Charles M. Wise, Pi Kappa Alpha; David E. Boals, Sigma Nu, and Waldon L. Knox, Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Ashland's Shannon D. Talley was another Sigma Nu pledge, while Lawrence Colaner of Urichsville pledged Phi Kappa.

Ohio State sororities, with their lists as yet incomplete, announced acceptance of the following bids for Mansfield area women:

Mary Ann Horne of Ashland, Alpha Xi Delta; Mariam Liggett and Patricia Louise Thompson, both of Galion, Delta Delta Delta and Kappa Delta, respectively; and Betty Marie Kraner of Crestline, Delta Zeta.

A total of 13 area students enrolled for the past quarter, including four Mansfielders, earned places on the Dean's honor roll in three different colleges.

Miss Doris Schneider Becomes Bride of Louis Brubaker

THE Rev. John C. Melchert officiated for the double ring ceremony of Miss Doris Ellen Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Schneider, 146 Gibson avenue, and Louis Stanley Brubaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Brubaker, 634 Garmon avenue, Ashland. The nuptial vows were exchanged Saturday at 2 p. m. in St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church.

The vows were spoken before an altar decorated with two seven branch candelabras, palms and two beauty baskets with mixed fall flowers.

Mrs. Helen Heston played the nuptial music at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a sheer white wool crepe street length dress with a high neckline and fitted bodice. The fishtail peplum extended to the hemline. The bride wore long white gloves with her dress. Miss Schneider wore a berry-feathered calot and berry suede sandals. She carried her maternal great-grandmother's lace handkerchief, a gift of her great aunt, Mrs. George Tugend. The only jewelry worn by the bride was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

A front style bouquet of white roses with a removable corsage of gardenias, tied with white streamers, was carried by the bride.

Mrs. Eleanor Arron, close friend of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a winter rose sheer wool crepe dress styled like the bride's and her gloves and shoes were dark brown. Mrs. Arron carried a front style bouquet of Talisman roses with blue pompons.

Mrs. Schneider wore a brown dressmaker's suit, with brown accessories and a yellow rose corsage for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Brubaker chose a grey dressmaker suit with brown accessories and a pink rose corsage for the wedding.

Robert Eugene Brubaker, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Clayton Atterholt, cousin of the bridegroom, from Mohicanville, and James Miller, a close friend of the couple, escorted the guests to their pews.

A reception for 150 guests was held immediately following the ceremony in the church basement. The table was centered with a five tiered wedding cake. Crystal candelabras and baskets of chrysanthemums were placed on each side of the cake. Mrs. Roy Schneider, aunt of the bride, assisted by Miss Elaine Miller, sorority sister of the bride, cut the cake. Miss Jean Else and Mrs. Phillip Hillegoss, sorority sisters of the bride, presided at the table.

After Nov. 15 the couple will be at home at R. D. 4, Walker avenue, Mansfield.

The bride graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and is employed as a stenographer at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company. Mr. Brubaker graduated from Ashland high school and attended Ashland college. He served two years in the U. S. Navy. He is with the sales department of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

Preferential Tea Honors Pledges

At a lovely formal tea held Sunday at the home of Mrs. Edwin Sheetz on Alpine avenue, eight members were accepted as pledges into Beta Sigma Phi, Epsilon Iota chapter. Over thirty members and pledges were present when Mrs. V. P. Thompson, vice president and chairman of the affair, welcomed the pledges and members.

Accepted as pledges were Miss Ann Stulpin, Mrs. George Beck, Mrs. Fred Wagner, Miss Doris Crain, Mrs. Richard Cunningham, Mrs. Opal Perry, Miss Lillian Colwell and Mrs. Loyal Neibel.

Mrs. Walter Becker and Mrs. Charles Baloy presided at the beautifully decorated table, centered with a large floral piece of Talisman roses. Each pledge was presented with a Talisman corsage by Mrs. Thompson. The group gathered socially from three to five o'clock.

In charge of the affair were Mrs. V. P. Thompson, chairman; Mrs. Robert Kaser, Mrs. Edwin Sheetz, Mrs. Charles Baloy, Mrs. John Dill, Mrs. O. W. Epps, Mrs. George Heston, Mrs. Walter Becker and Mrs. Albert Rimmer.

The chapter met recently in the clubrooms of the Hotel Southern with Mrs. Paul Lantz presiding over the meeting. It was announced that there would be the "Ritual of Jewels" ceremony with formal dinner and reception on November 4 at the Grace Episcopal church, at seven o'clock.

Members of the sorority are making plans to attend the musical benefit given by members of their sorority in Akron on November 13 and 14. Following the musical there will be a reception held at the Mayflower hotel.

Miss Mary Mihaloff announced further plans for the joint chapter dance to be held on November 27 at the Richland Recreation Center. Music will be furnished by Spelos Karas and his orchestra.

Following the business meeting Miss Mihaloff, program chairman introduced as speaker Miss Paul Lantz, who talked on "Happiness Through Control of Self and Environment," based on self analysis. She explained the different mental conflicts which affect happiness. Highlighting her speech was a chart which each member filled out for self-analysis, and then was used as a basis for discussion in the group. She called on each member to discuss one of these in relation to herself, followed by an open discussion, thus X-raying each personality.

VICTORIAN MODE GOES TO THE FEET

By MARIAN WEST

YOUR feet are in the footlight, girls! This season even more than last, Mansfield women have become shoe conscious, and it isn't any wonder—what with the drastic style changes.

You can't be well dressed unless the tip of your toes conforms with the top of your head—and those toes must be closed. So discard all your open sandals — or better still, save them for another renaissance in fashion—and start out on a shopping spree for more modest and lady-like footwear.

The first step, upon entering one of Mansfield's leading retail shoe establishments, is to have your foot measured. Selecting the right size is the fundamental step, and this has gained even greater proportions of importance with the "re-birth" of the closed shoe.

"No more buying a 6½ when a 7 is required," the shop owner cautioned. "You should have your foot measured with each pair of shoes you buy. Slight variations in last, leather and manufacture will cause one basic style to react differently on different feet," he added.

Make sure that the back grips your heel firmly and that your heel sets down into the shoe. Shoes no longer need to be "broken in." They should feel comfortable, with no pinch or burn before you purchase them.

Now for choice of style! Our clerk says that the black suede opera pump is at least ten lengths in the lead. But remember, a high cut vamp may cut into the instep of a fleshy foot. A lower cut, curbed or shaped vamp will be more comfortable.

"The walled toe, which is roomy and almost as comfortable as the open toe, is still popular here," the clerk informed us.

But don't stop at plain pumps, although they are smart in their simplicity. Straps are still good, and they can do a lot for you. Horizontal straps which cross the instep or ankle will widen your foot and shorten your leg. Diagonal straps are more flattering if your foot is short or broad. Straps, too, should be firm but not tight.

Ankle strap shoes are featuring closed toes, or closed heels, or preferably both. Platforms are ¼ inch or ½ inch at the most, with all nail heads or bead trim definitely out.

You may still adhere to the high heel for dress. "The 2¾ inch to 3 inch heel is the most sought after here," the shoe merchant said. If your closed shoe fits properly, your toes should not press against the tip of the shoe. For daytime use, the slightly lower curved heel may be more comfortable and in keeping with the fashion trends.

"The extremely curved French heel is considered ridiculous. People laugh at us when we attempt to display them," the retailer added. "After all," he continued, "we have to give our customers what they want, not what high fashion decrees. So we stock fashionable but sensible merchandise."

In casual shoes, the wedge, in various heights, will give you stability and comfort as well as smartness.

What a pretty ankle you have in this graceful fall charmer. Its two slender straps have such lovely, slimming ways. Its decided —but unexaggerated—elegance is just what fashion has in mind for your costume suits and late-in-the-day festivities. For further information phone Fashion Editor of the Mansfield News-Journal.

PILGRIM NOTE . . . High-throated step-in, with huge scroll metal buckle.

SPAT SHOE . . . Gray suede is combined with black calf in new shoe by Delman.

"They still sell two to one over dress shoes because women work, shop and live in casual shoes," the shoeman emphasized.

An example of good design is one shoe which has met a steady demand since 1941, with no variation in styling. So the reputed fickleness of women is often deterred when it's a matter of comfort.

Bronze has entered into the fashion picture but with little aplomp. Black is still leading, followed by brown, green and grey.

The pilgrim touch has become noticeable in buckles. They are either a part of the shoe itself, or attachable. Metal or leather are both popular.

To return to comfort, you may find that your shoes cut into your toes even after a careful selection. It may be that your toenails are too long. Keep them trimmed and wear long enough hosiery so that your toes won't be cramped.

There are too many exciting new styles to say you can't get closed shoes to fit. Choose carefully and wisely with these points in mind for greater shoe comfort.

STORM BOOT . . . Sturdy suede and smooth fur make Delman's winter boot.

Horoscope

For Tuesday, October 26.

The indications are that a shrewd, astute and alert grasp of the current conditions and status might be the means of opening up new and desired opportunities, with much profit and pleasure. A thorough preparation for such possibilities, with attention to detail and system, could yield rich returns. Friendly interest and substantial support could develop from curious or strange contacts in which idealism, fancy or imagination have part. Keen grasp of such unrealistic aspects could prove radical and soul-satisfying.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of the unusual, fantastic and irregular, but prepare for a radical and strange state of affairs, in which keen insight, adaptability and readiness might develop unforseen adventures in which much profit and pleasure might materialize. There are many unique factors to be astutely and quickly manipulated for spectacular or sensational denouements. Detail and sound tactics are not to be discounted. Personal relations or contacts could be idealistic and happy as well.

A child born on this day will be alert, versatile and talented, its sharp mentality and insight sustained by inner vision.

Association Has Dinner Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. George Stuhldreher and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stanley were hosts for the meeting of the Prospect Park Association recently at the park pavilion. Forty-six were in attendance for the covered dish dinner. Halloween appointments were used for the decorations.

High score for bridge was won by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley, and Mrs. Philip Renie and Mrs. Robert Renie won the prize for pinochle. On Nov. 17 Mr. and Mrs. Philip Renie and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Snyder will be hosts.

More than half the farm families of the U. S. now are using freezing locker space for preserving their home food supplies, estimates the Department of Agriculture.

Jaycee Production to Have Hollywood-Type Premier

It'll look like Hollywood premier night here next Tuesday when Skitch Henderson and his orchestra unload their 20,000,000 candle-light searchlight in front of Madison High school.

The two hour stage production, "The Best Is Yet to Come," will open in the school auditorium with two shows at 7:00 and 9:00 p. m.

Sponsored by the Mansfield Jaycees, proceeds from the attraction will go into their local charity fund.

In addition to Henderson and the band will be a big 10-featured act from Hollywood. Some of the acts are the Lamars, featured on Red Skelton's summer show, Crew and O'Connor in "Novelties in Taps," and "Little Walter," who plays 19 different instruments.

Skitch Henderson is a young English composer, band leader, and arranger. Besides arranging for the Bing Crosby show, Henderson has found time to act in the Jimmie Stewart movie "Magic Town," recorded 16 discs with Capitol, and wrote the song "Anita".

Helping the band out will be Jaycee Robert Murphy as local master of ceremonies, Mansfielder Jack Saylor doing a tap-dancing routine, and the local high school band playing during intermission.

About 800 million matches are used daily.
